LEAVES have their time to fall, and stars to wane, and flowers to wither at the north wind's blast.

The New York Herald has been bought by the New York Tribune, and Horace Greeley, Old Bennett and Charles A. Dana, sitting in the Celestial Press Club, must have laughed when that news floated up.

FRANK MUNSEY, who can both a buyer and seller be, has owned seventeen newspapers all together. He will now concentrate on one, the Evening Sun. This writer, who was editor of that paper under Charles A. Dana when it started back in the flight of time, and had the biggest circulation in New York city, hopes that Mr. Munsey will enjoy the concentration.

MR. MUNSEY says "God Almighty never made any man big enough to handle more than one newspaper."

There is no doubt as to the accuracy of that, but God Almighty has certainly made many men not able to handle as many as one newspaper.

GOD ALMIGHTY also made W. R. Hearst, as Boswell said of Scotland to Dr. Johnson. "Mr. Hearst, with more than twenty newspapers and a handful of magazines, seems to be doing well. His first newspaper, the San Francisco Examiner, which he built up from nothing when he left Harvard, has a much bigger circulation today and makes more money than ever before in history.

AMONG W. R. Hearst's newspaper properties on the Atlantic, on the Pacific Coast and in Chicago there are at least five, each of which makes more than a million dollars profit every year. That would indicate that one man can look after more than one newspaper. But it is not easy; you must know how.

"I'LL FIGHT no more," says Firpo, giant of the Pampas, "after this one fight with Reich."

The Argentine Giant means to live his own life and leave the atmosphere of the prize ring, which does not please him. He even refuses the possibility of making half a million by one more fight in the United States.

DAMON RUNYON, from whom the sport world has no secrets, says Firpo has met "a worse knockout than Dempsey." A lady from Paris, who acts, wants Firpo to go to France.

GIRL FINDS SUITOR IS BROTHER

Charlestown Sweethearts Discover They Are Twins, Separated Years Ago

After a search lasting fifteen years, Miss Josephine Buckley, nineteen years old, has found her twin brother, James, living within three minutes' walk of her home in Charlestown.

While she has been yearning to see him year after year, since she was four years old, the twin brother and sister have attended the same classrooms in school, played in the same street, and danced at the same balls.

When they finally met, Josephine shyly told Jim she saw him at a dance last Hallowe'en and pictured him as her future sweetheart. Jim then bashfully admitted he had that same night resolved to "know better" a certain little dark-haired girl.

FELL IN LOVE.

"I fell in love with the big, tall fellow with black eyes and hair, whom all the girls were smiling at," Josephine told him. "I told my foster-mother I hoped by brother Jim looked just like you."

Josephine lives with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Buckley at No. 75 Tremont street, Charlestown. Jim, who is known as the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brady, lives at No. 61 Decatur street.

They were born December 27, 1904, and separated June 7, 1909.

When their mother died, their father, James Buckley, put the little boy and girl "for one month" in the Harrison Avevnue Home. Then he disappeared and has never been found by his relatives.

A month later and the child's aunt gave them a home with her, but when her baby died and financial

Brother and sister as they look today and as they looked when only eleven months old. Separated since they were four years old, they have lived within three minutes' walk of each other for years, attended the same school and dances and even fallen in love with each other, unaware, until within a few days, that they were related.

BROKERS CLOSE HUB OFFICES

W. E. Wilson & Co. Halt Business Here; Redmond Probe Pushed

Walter E. Wilson of Cochituate, as head of the concern, was petitioned into bankruptcy today by three creditors, with claims aggregating $767.16.

The petitioners were Michael F. Donovan of Lynn, Paola Benvisento of Boston and John G. Foster of Lynn.

The New York office was closed by temporary injunction signed by Justice Erlanger of New York on the allegation of Attorney General Carl Sherman that the Wilson concern was operated in a manner offering no assurance of security to customers.

Notice of voluntary suspension of business appeared today on the door of the Boston office, despite declaration of officials yesterday that closing of the New York office would not affect Boston operations.

The suspension notice, placed on the door some time during the night, read: "The business of the W. E. Wilson & Co. has been suspended until further notice upon the advice of counsel." There was no evidence of any activity in the establishment.

At one time, it is said, W. E. Wilson, head of the concern closed today, had charge of branch offices of G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc.

More than a score of brokers will be called before the Federal grand jury next week to explain what they know about the Boston and Montana stock finace and the part played in the promotion of the stock by G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc.

The Redmond firm failed last week owing $10,000,000 to investors, many of them women.

In connection with the Boston Montana phase of the Redmond probe it became known today that when Public Accountant Edwin L. Pride was working on the Boston-Montana books last year he had access for a time to the Redmond books.

FIRST PROBE HALTED.

Pride's accountants were halted in their work suddenly, but not before they learned that "something was wrong" with the Redmond company. Pride's men are now aiding the accountants working for the receivers appointed by the Federal Court last week.

Just why the accountants were called off the Redmond books last year has not been explained, but the authorities have determined to search into the whole affair.

It was said today that the miss-

MILLIONS ARE WON BY LOVE

New York Multimillionaire Will Wed a Hyde Park Girl Half His Age

"I love him, and that is enough."

"Miss Stevens loves me and I her. That's all."

In this terse fashion, Miss Janet Campbell Stevens, Hyde Park stenographer, and John A. Perkins, multimillionaire New York man and mill owner, summed up a romance that will culminate in their marriage April 12 in Hyde Park.

Although the wealthy mill owner is nearly twice her age, this will make no difference in their happiness. Miss Stevens declared to an American representative at Albany, N. Y.

She is thirty-three, while Perkins is fifty-six. He is part owner and agent of the Harmony Mills in Cohoes, N. Y., largest textile print mills in the world, and is reputed to be a millionaire many times over.

Marriage intentions have been filed in the couple at City Hall and on April 12 the wedding will take place at the home of her father, A. M. Stevens, No. 44 Warren avenue, Hyde Park.

At Albany, the attractive stenographer declared today to the Boston American representative:

"It's nobody's business if I marry a man who is twice my age. I have known Mr. Perkins for some time—long enough to become engaged with due respect for all concerned. I love him and that is enough."

The multimillionaire, when seen at the Harmony Mills in Cohoes, said briefly:

"Yes, I am going to be married to Miss Stevens. That is all I have to say. I may be twice her age, but what business is that of yours or anybody else. Miss Stevens loves me and I her. That's all."

U. S. Sailors Dash to Save Americans in Honduras

Washington, March 19.—Nine officers and 167 bluejackets have been landed from the United States cruiser Milwaukee at Amapala, Honduras, and are marching on the capital at Tegucigalpa in the rescue of the American embassy and American residents, a dispatch to the State Department today from United States Minister Franklin Morales states.

The landing forces was asked for by American Minister Morales for the protection of the American legation and consular offices, fired upon by drunken soldiers, over which the Honduran ministry had lost all control.

Losses estimated at $400,000 have been suffered, principally by British, Chinese and American merchants.

OFFERED DEAL, SAYS WITNESS

Candidate Spurned Scheme to Name Oil Man in Payment for Nomination

Washington, March 19 (I.N.S.).—Major - General Leonard Wood was approached at the Chicago convention by representatives of "big oil interests," who offered to support him at that critical stage of the proceedings if he would name "an oil man" Secretary of the Interior, Tiffin Gilmore, Deputy Secretary of State of Ohio, testified today before the oil committee.

Gilmore said Wood had turned the offer down after pacing up and down the room for some time, finally saying, 'This is a shady deal and I won't have anything to do with it."

Under close questioning by Republican Senators, Gilmore admitted he had no personal knowledge of the transaction himself, but declared he had heard it around the convention. Gilmore himself attended the convention as a Wood supporter, and was identified with the anti-Harding and anti-Daugherty contingent in Ohio.

After the convention was over and the Ohioans were returning home on the train Gilmore said he asked Carmi Thompson, one of the Harding managers, what he "wanted with the land." Thompson replied, Gilmore said, that there had been some oil struck on the land.

JAP SUBMARINE SINKS; CREW OF 44 DIES

Sazbo, Japan, March 19 (A.P.)—The 800-ton submarine 43 of the Japanese Navy collided today with the warship Tatsuta during manoeuvres and sank with four officers and forty men, ten miles outside Sazbo Harbor.

Several hours later the Navy Office ascertained that while attempts at rescue were proceeding, there was little hope there would be any survivors.

Tokio, March 19 (A.P.)—A naval dirigible caught fire and fell late today in Ibayaki, northeast of here, killing the crew of five men. The body of the commander was the only one found, the other four probably having leaped from the blazing airship before it plunged into a forest. The blimp was the pride of the Japanese Navy. It was practically a new craft.

PAIR, TRAILED BY HUSBAND, ARE ARRESTED

Suspecting his wife of misconduct, Clarence Hutchinson of Worcester, assistant superintendent of maintenances of the New England Telephone Company at Worcester, had detectives follow her to Boston.

The wife and a man, Bernard Civin, who gave the Bay State Hotel, Worcester, as his address, were arrested in the Hotel Avery.

The husband was with private detectives and Sergeant Hurley of Police Station 4 when they entered the hotel.

"Who is this woman?" demanded the sergeant.

"She's my wife." Civin declared.

The real husband then stepped forward and the couple were arrested.

In Municipal Court today detectives testified they trailed Mrs. Hutchinson from Worcester. She met Civin in Boston, they said, and the couple then went to dinner, to a show and later to the hotel.

Judge Parmenter fixed bail at $500 each for a further hearing on March 31. Unable to furnish bail, they were taken to jail.

SHIP, CARRYING 42, IN PERIL

Cape May, N. J., March 19.—The steamship Mazama, bound from New York to Norfolk, Va., with 42 persons on board, was reported nine miles off the coast today flying a distress signal, according to information given to Captain R. G. Weightman of the coast guard cutter Kickapoo. Trouble developed in the Mazama engines. The Mazama is owned by the Senate Corporation of New York.

ELKINS GOING TO "MAKE SPARKS FLY"

Miami, Fla., March 19.—"When I go back to Washington I am going to make the sparks fly in Democratic circles." Senator Davis Elkins of West Virginia said today after reading dispatches in which it was charged in testimony that he had dealt extensively in Sinclair Oil stocks from March 16, 1922, to April 1, 1923.

The mud slinging going on in Washington today is an outrage," Senator Elkins said. "It is politics to remove confidence on the part of the public in public officials, and I promise you will make the country another Russia."

FIND ROXBURY WOMAN DYING IN SUBWAY

Miss Ellen Whalen, fifty, of Roxbury, was found semi-conscious on the platform of the Park street subway today suffering from a fractured skull. At the Relief Hospital her name was placed on the danger list.

The manner in which Miss Whalen was injured is a mystery. Elevated officials disclaimed all knowledge of any accident or of the woman having been injured in the station.

DECLARES WOOD SCORNED "SHADY DEAL" AT 1920 CONVENTION

REFUSED TO CONSIDER PLAN TO NAME OIL MAN SECRETARY OF INTERIOR

knew what he meant, too," said Dillmore, leaving the plain inference that the Harding managers had made some sort of a "deal" whereby certain public lands were to be leased in the event of Harding's election.

CALL SINCLAIR

Senators did not, however, pursue this line of questioning, and after Gilmore had said he had no actual personal knowledge of the transaction he was excused and Colonel James A. Darden, a friend of Harding and of Attorney-General Daugherty, was called to the stand. Darden was one of those ejected from Teapot Dome.

Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome, now in the West contesting

Gen. Leonard Wood

H. F. Sinclair

the government suit to cancel his lease, was subpoenaed today to return to Washington and appear before the committee.

His ex-secretary, G. D. Wahlberg, whose revelations to Archie Roosevelt resulted in the latter's retirement from Sinclair's employ and his subsequent reporting to the oil committee his suspicions of the lease, was instructed to report here on Thursday.

Carmia A. Thompson was also subpoenaed today.

Called as a part of the committee's inquiry into stories of an "oil deal" in the 1920 campaign, Gilmore was asked about his connection with that campaign. He said he attended the Republican national convention at Chicago in 1920 as a worker for General Wood.

"We were almost hostile campa," Gilmore said.

"Who?" asked Senator Walsh.

"We had a bitter primary as between Senator Harding and General Wood and it was carried over to the convention."

NEEDED HIM

Gilmore said he had a conference with Thompson on a sleeper having Chicago for Washington. He quotes Thompson as saying:

"Tiffin, we need you worse than ever now. He said 'Tell me damned right you do.'"

Thompson, he said, discussed a land claim with him.

"I asked, 'What do you want that land for? Is is agricultural land?' He said it was Indian land. I asked if it was mineral land. He said he didn't know. I asked if it was oil land, and he said it hadn't been tested.

"There was a man standing nearby and he turned and said, 'They have two wells drilled and are getting good production.'

"What prompted you to make such an inquiry of him concerning the land?" asked Senator Walsh.

"The whole thing had been superheated with charges that a deal had been consummated between the oil operators and the possible nominee of the convention. That was common talk."

SECOND-HAND

"Do you yourself know anything about the facts?"

"I cannot say that I do know anything first hand—I only know second hand."

"What land did you refer to when you asked Thompson if he had the land?" asked Senator Bursum.

"The whole air was so supercharged I cannot tell. My impression was that it was some land adjacent to Bakersfield, Cal. I had never heard of Teapot Dome at that time."

"Did you gather the impression that Mr. Harry Daugherty, Republican national committeeman for Oklahoma had anything to do with it?"

"I don't know what oil companies were in it. I do think, however, that a young man named Moller told me Haman was mixed up in it."

"You really knew nothing of those matters except gossip on the street?"

"I do not."

"No man who knew ever told you?"

"No, sir."

SHUNNED BY WOOD

Asked if he knew what General Wood had said, Gilmore said:

"I was told he walked up and down at his hotel and said it was a 'shady' deal; that he would have nothing to do with it; and that they would have to defeat him."

Stewart was excused and Darden was called.

Darden said he had known President Harding a long time and had become intimate with him during the pre-convention campaign in 1920.

Albert B. Fall

Senator Bursum

"Did you aid in bringing about his nomination?"

"I did everything I could."

"Did you raise any money?"

"I did now and then, a very little."

"Where did you raise the money?"

"Among my friends, some of my Democratic friends, including some in North Carolina."

WILSON'S BROTHER

"Do you know Joseph Hall of New York?"

"I do; I met him during the Harding campaign. He came to see us and wanted to help. Mr. Daugherty was there."

Darden said he also became intimate with Attorney-General Daugherty during the Harding campaign.

Darden then launched into a long recital of how he got claims in the Salt Creek field, as well as in Teapot Dome. He said there were 160 acres in Teapot involved, and twice as much outside. It was during the Wilson administration, Darden said, that he took the matter up with the Interior Department.

Asserting that a Mr. Taylor had decided to contest with him his right to the land on Teapot Dome, Darden said:

"Mr. Taylor came down and employed a Mr. Wilson, the President's brother. Mr. Payne (the Secretary of the Interior) decided in our favor for a small acreage. He never said anything about the 160 acres.

"I never discussed oil with Mr. Harding or Mr. Daugherty in my life until the matter came up," said the witness.

Darden said he learned through "gossip" that Harry F. Sinclair was to get Teapot Dome two months before the lease was signed on April 7, 1922.

This "gossip" came from oil men who "were coming and going" at Washington constantly," Darden said.

"Did you take it up with President Harding and Mr. Daugherty?" asked Senator Dill.

HARDING LETTER

"I did. I went first to see Assistant-Secretary Finney of the Interior Department, who told me 'the old man' was handling the matter."

Later, Darden said, he saw Albert B. Fall, then Secretary of the Interior, who told him he had no claim. He then went West to see John F. Campion, one of his partners, he said, without seeing President Harding, but the President later wrote him a letter, calling him to Washington.

"Have you that letter?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I have it home and can furnish it."

Darden explained that he got his claims from the Belco Company, one of those Sinclair bought out after he secured the lease.

He presented what purported to be a copy of the deed which was included in a bill of complaint against the Mammoth Oil Company by Darden and his partners, Campion and Robert G. Taylor.

"What did you pay for your share of this?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I don't know exactly. Campion and Taylor were to finance it and I was to pay my proportion."

Robert R. Bright, counsel for Darden, said the land was gained as a result of a compromise with the Belco Company, which had a dispute over the claims with Campion and Taylor.

CALLED FALL "TNT"

Pressed as to what he was to have paid, Darden said it was not settled, and never had been settled finally. He recalled one payment of about $2,200 as expenses incident to the fight with the Belco Company before the compromise in June, 1920.

"When did you apply, if you ever did apply, for a lease for the 160 acres in Teapot?"

"We never did apply."

Describing his conversation with President Harding after he had been called to Washington, Darden said:

"The President said, 'Jim, what about this property you think you own out in Wyoming?' 'Well,' I said, 'I do not know just what it is, I cannot tell you. We feel naturally we owned it because we had spent some money on it,' he said 'Fall is a kind of 'TNT.'' We did not say much more about it."

"Then we went on to discuss Senator Bursum. He wanted to know what I thought of him. I said he was a good fellow.

"'Well,' he said, 'what are you going to do about it?' I said, 'Well, we may have to go into the courts.' I left then."

FALL PEEVISH

"I went to Daugherty one day and said, 'Daugherty, it is a shame Fall is going to drive us into a lawsuit. We own this land.' He said the courts seemed to be the only relief.

"He said, 'Fall is going to get the land. He is going to send the Marines out there to get it.'"

Darden said Fall told him Sinclair would settle with him for his claim, as he was to settle with the other claimants.

"Secretary Fall, you will agree, if you know him at all, was kind of peevish about anything he wanted to do," the witness said. "He said he could not find any title to my claim. He went on to say Sinclair would take care of the claimants."

"What did you go to Fall for?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I went there to get a lease on the 160 acres. What do you think I went for, a dog?"

Darden told the committee he made an agreement with the Mutual Oil Company to do the drilling in Teapot Dome on a basis of that company paying expenses and taking 60 per cent of the oil.

"It was the Mutual Company that was driven off by the marines," he said.

"I didn't squat on this land," Darden said. "I didn't advise anybody to seek title."

Darden added he was satisfied he had no claim after Finney and Fall had told him so, but his partners wanted to go ahead in an effort to enforce their claim.

"Did you try to dissuade the officers from sending marines to eject the Mutual Oil Company?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I did not."

The committee then led Darden over his life history.

Darden said he was born in North Carolina, went to the Texas Panhandle when a boy, and lived for years in New Mexico, engaging in the electric light business. He also lived in Buffalo and in Colorado and spent some time in Chicago as vice-president of the United States Canning Company.

"Are you a married man?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I am not; I have been."

Then, leaning across the table, Darden asked:

"Senator, have you a right to go this way into a man's life history; how many women he has had around, and the like?"

"I had no intention of going into that," said Senator Walsh.

Darden said he had been in politics in New Mexico, but spent no considerable time in Washington, except in 1920, when he was here in connection with his oil land claim.

The witness then was excused, and the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

$600 Raise For P. O. Men Would Be Simple Justice

A bill is before Congress to increase the salaries of letter carriers from $1800 to $2400 a year. These men deserve an increase in pay. They work in all kinds of weather on a regular schedule. Their service demands patience, honesty, intelligence and co-operation with the public. They give these and receive only $4.92 a day. Here is another example of why the mailman should receive more:

A. A. Morris

Augustus A. Morris is a carrier at the Central Post Office. He has three children, two of school age, and one an infant. He receives $1800 a year out of which he pays $45 a month rent. He has been in the service for more than 19 years.

old Troy in ashes?—A woman! And now it's Firpo's turn.

THE FRENCH franc, worth a little more than 3 cents the other day, went above 5 cents yesterday. That's an excellent news, also. Shorts have been badly squeezed and have lost many millions. They know now, what has often been said here, that it is dangerous to sell France or her money short.

THE House of Representatives passed the bonus bill yesterday by 355 votes against 54, big enough to pass the bill over the President's veto in case he should feel bound to veto it. That's one good thing accomplished. The Senate will be heard from next.

NORTH DAKOTA had a State-wide primary yesterday to discover presidential preferences. McAdoo had the Democratic fight to himself. Coolidge and Hiram Johnson were alone on the Republican ballot. At the last minute a "sticker" campaign was started for Senator La Follotte. That will prevent a full record of La Follette's strength. Isiram Johnson is expected to win by those that understand sentiment in North Dakota.

A MAN, OLD too soon, only sixty, incurable, soon to die, although he doesn't know it, lies in the hospital.

"This shook the hand of the King of Greece," he says, raising his weak right hand. They know me in the newspaper offices."

The man is "Billy" Showles, once champion bareback rider of the world, and king of Barnum's circus. Long years ago he had to give up that work. Soon he will be dead at an age when real work should begin.

Too violent exercise does not pay.

GOVERNMENT statistics show that there are 1,500,000 more married women working for a living now than there were thirty years ago.

"Many work in very low-paid, undesirable positions because of double demand on their time." They are more irregular. They have to look after husband and children and work as well. Not much of a compliment to 1,500,000 proud American husbands.

PROBERS DELVE INTO TEXAS LOTTERIES

Stewart, Galveston Lawyer, at Daugherty Hearing, Says They Were Not Prosecuted

Washington, March 19.—The Daugherty investigating committee had a brief session today because Senator Wheeler, the committee "prosecutor," had a bad cold and remained at home.

Will A. Orr, former private secretary to Governor Whitman of New York, was waiting to be questioned further about the film "deals" and whiskey "deals" on which he testified yesterday, but the committee turned aside from Orr to briefly again Maco Stewart, a Galveston lawyer, who complained in his testimony yesterday that the Department of Justice had been remiss in prosecuting lotteries.

"NO DIFFERENCE."

Attorney-General Daugherty's counsel brought out that the government had been prosecuting the concerns Stewart complained of, but Stewart insisted they had not been prosecuted under the lottery law.

"You understand all these fraud prosecutions are prepared by the Postoffice Department and don't come to the Justice Department unless a special attorney is asked?" said Attorney Howland, Daugherty's counsel.

"I understand that."

"Isn't there a difference of opinion in the courts as to whether these companies are really lotteries?"

"No, there's no difference," Stewart insisted.

Thomas D. Dawkins, a Texas postoffice inspector, was called.

WENT TO WASHINGTON.

B. C. Baldwin, former agent of the Department of Justice, had testified that various Federal officials in Texas tried to "blackmail" oil promoters and named Dawkins as a person able to confirm his charges.

"I conferred with George M. Sutton, my superior officer, about this blackmail allegation," Dawkins testified. He told me there was no evidence to justify Baldwin's belief."

He had investigated the United Home Builders, he said, and Henry Zweifel, United States attorney in Texas, conferred with him in the work.

"We brought in officials of those concerns for a conference," he went on, "and a few days after that I was ordered to proceed to Washington with all the data.

"Postmaster-General Hays referred the matter to Joseph Stewart, special assistant to the Attorney-General.

"Mr. Stewart gave the Postmaster-General an opinion that the loan companies, by eliminating some sections of their contracts, would not be objectionable to the Postoffice Department. That was at once capitalized by the loan companies."

"In April, 1922, I had a conference with Mr. Zweifel about the United Home Builders, and he said he did not feel he should institute a prosecution without instructions from the Postoffice Department in Washington.

"In April, 1923, however, Mr. Zweifel told me it had been decided the case should not be pursued, that officials in Washington had come to that decision."

Nantasket Boat Co. Boosts Price of Fare Books 25 P. C.

The Nantasket Beach Steamboat Company has filed new rates with the Department of Public Utilities. The new rates apply to 150 coupon books and increase the charge from $10, in force last year, to $12.50 for 1924.

Coupons are used by Summer commuters, and it requires two coupons from Boston to Nantasket.

A corresponding increase of 25 per cent. in special school coupons is included in the new tariff. The increase does not affect single tickets.

ACTIVE AGAINST FILMS, BURNS DECLARES

Answers Holdridge's Charges and Says No Protection Was Given at Any Time

Washington, March 19.—William J. Burns, chief of the Department of Justice bureau of investigation, replied today to the testimony of G. O. Holdridge, a former agent, who testified to the Daugherty committee Monday that he had reported the connection of Charles F. "Pop" Muma with the alleged arrangements to permit exhibition of the Carpentier-Dempsey fight films.

"There was no protection at any time anywhere," said Burns. "On the other hand, the matter of the fight films was vigorously prosecuted throughout the country."

Burns said that after Holdridge became involved in a liquor party at Sunset Inn, near Troy, N. Y., in which he drew a revolver and was arrested, "he sought all sorts of political and social influence to prevent his discharge and his wife sent a most pitiful letter enclosing with it a photograph of herself and children."

Holdridge, the statement said, went like a child, pleading that he would be disgraced."

Up to that time, Burns said, Holdridge had never mentioned Muma or the fight films, but later came and told of Muma's alleged connection with Daugherty.

Then Burns said he withdrew his request for Holdridge's resignation and send him back to work up more information. From further reports, Burns concluded Holdridge was "wringing" him, and declined to send him back to the Albany district.

OFFENDING BLOSSOM TORN OFF

Fitchburg High Professor Refused Students' Demand to Remove It

Fitchburg, March 19.—Superintendent of Schools E. W. Robinson is conducting an investigation into Harold Ellsworth's orange blossom.

Harold is professor of physics in Fitchburg High.

He wore the orange blossom on Monday—for a very short time.

Monday, as even the youngest reader need not be told, was St. Patrick's Day.

CLASHED WITH GREEN.

There were as many bits of green ribbon or lovely green carnations around F. H. S. on Monday morning as there are rumors floating out of Washington, D. C., when Professor Ellsworth walked in with the orange blossom for a boutonniere and hurried to his class room.

The temperature fell 40 degrees.

Then it climbed 160.

At the recess hour a "committee"—a mob, according to some reports—politely requested the professor to doff the orange.

He declined.

The students demanded.

6 HUSKIES ACT.

Ellsworth refused, standing upon his constitutional rights.

Six husky young men are said to have climbed upon Ellsworth at one time.

When they climbed off again, the orange blossom was missing.

Professor Ellsworth reported the grand

MOVIE STAR'S BROTHER BRINGS $50,000 SUIT

ANITA STEWART

BERGDOLL TO EXPOSE OFFICIALS

Promises to Name U. S. "High Ups" Who, He Says, Aided Him to Escape

New York, March 19.—Sensational disclosures affecting high government officials may be expected in the event Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, war slacker, keeps his promise to quit his German exile and return to the United States, it was declared.

It was made clear, both in the article by Leighton H. Blood, in the April Hearst's International Magazine, out today and from a review of the files in the Bergdoll case, that one of the main reasons Bergdoll agreed in conversation with Blood to come back to this country and "face the music" was that he believes the startling allegations he is prepared to make may have considerable weight in assisting him from his troubles on this side of the Atlantic.

In his article, which is based on numerous conversations with Bergdoll at his exile headquarters in Eberlach, Blood declared that the slacker's escape from the United States in 1920, soon after he had begun to serve five years for desertion, was "one of the best arranged affairs in the history of America." Those responsible for it, Blood's article continues, were "men high in the confidence of their government."

Review of the files in the Bergdoll case lends considerable backing to the subject matter of Blood's article. This shows that, soon after his escape his mother, Mrs. Bergdoll, declared that high government officials had offered to arrange for his release on payment of $100,000. In the subsequent investigation, which got nowhere, this charge was not proved, and more or less mystery has since attached to it.

Asked in Washington as to the news bearing on Bergdoll's desire to return, officials of War and State departments jointly announced that the United States government will not enter into any agreement to extend immunity to Bergdoll, and that it had taken no steps to induce him to return.

At the office of Hearst's International Magazine, Norman Hapgood, the editor said:

"The probabilities are that Bergdoll will return within a week or two. Certain influences are trying to alarm him, and apparently have succeeded. But it seems probable, nevertheless, that he will decide within the next few days to carry out his agreement."

COOLIDGE 2-1 VICTOR IN DAKOTA

Maintains a Big Lead Over Johnson and La Follette in Primary Returns

Fargo, N. D., March 19 (A.P.)—President Calvin Coolidge maintained more than a two-to-one lead over Senator Hiram Johnson of California and Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin for the Republican presidential preference indorsement on the compilation today of incomplete returns from yesterday's State-wide primary.

Most of the rural precincts remain to be heard from.

The totals of Senator Johnson and La Follette were awaited as the rural precincts began to report and Johnson headquarters here expressed confidence that more complete returns would swing the tide in his favor.

Nevertheless, Coolidge supporters declared the President would have a plurality when the final figures were in, although not so great as the initial reports would indicate.

The vote polled by Senator La Follette was noted with satisfaction by his backers, especially because of the fact that his name was withheld from the ballot at his request. Stickers were pasted on the ballots by his adherents.

Figures from 553 precincts of 2,058 in the State gave: Coolidge, 18,866; Johnson, 9,393, and La Follette, 3,525.

William G. McAdoo was unopposed for the Democratic presidential preference endorsement.

In more than three years of married life, Clarence A. McGrail gave his wife a total of $15, it was testified today in Suffolk divorce court by the wife, Mrs. Catherine A. McGrail, thirty-two, of No. 98 Hemenway street. Mrs. McGrail was granted a decree by Judge Prest.

She testified that they were married in September, 1919, and lived together until March, 1923, during which time he gave her no money, except the $15 and bought her no clothing. He often came home drunk, she declared. In her libel she charged non-support.

INCE IS SUED BY BROTHER OF ANITA

$50,000 Damages Asked as Result of Fistic Battle During Auto Party

New York, March 19.—An aftermath of the Ralph Ince-George Stewart imbroglio, staged on a deserted spot on the Boston Post Road, August 8 last, which resulted in Stewart receiving a fracture of the skull, developed today when it became known that a $50,000 damage suit has been filed against Ince by attorneys for Stewart, who is the brother of Anita Stewart, screen actress.

Attorneys for both sides attempted to keep the matter sub rosa, but at the offices of O'Brien, Malevinsky and Driscoll, who are representing Stewart, it was admitted that a summons in the suit had been filed.

Nathan Vidaver, of counsel for Ince, admitted that he had entered a general denial for his client.

DEATH EXPECTED.

At one time it was thought that young Stewart would die from the effects of the beating he is said to have received at the hands of Ince, who is his brother-in-law.

According to statements made at the time by attorneys for Stewart a party consisting of Ince, Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Ring and Mrs. Joseph Noble were returning from a tour of West Chester County road houses in the handsomely appointed limousine of Anita Stewart.

At a deserted spot on the post road, between Larchmont and New Rochelle, Ince ordered the chauffeur to stop the car.

SENT TO HOSPITAL.

He is said to have then ordered Stewart out of the machine and to have administered a severe beating. Ince is said to be 6 inch fifty pounds more than Stewart.

According to the chauffeur, Stewart's skull was fractured when he became unconscious from blows on the face, and Ince lifted him into the air and pitched him head foremost to the ground.

The unconscious youth was taken to the Lambs' Club, where a doctor diagnosed his injuries as a fractured skull and ordered him transferred to a hospital.

DENIES ANY BRITISH PACT WITH DOHENY

London, March 19 (I.N.S.)—Charles Napier, secretary of the British-Mexican Petroleum Co., today denied that his company has any agreement with the Doheny interests for providing oil for British warships.

He admitted that, up to five months ago, the British-Mexican Company had an agreement by which it shared privately in the Doheny oil output, but denied that the British government was ever a party to such an agreement.

CHURCHILL IN THIRD RACE FOR COMMONS

London, March 19 (I.N.S.)—Winston Spencer Churchill, once a fixture in the British government and now a thorn in the flesh of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, is again a candidate for a seat in the House of Commons.

Churchill is standing for election in the Westminster Abbey division. The political struggle is a bitter one. At the windup meeting supporters of Churchill engaged in fist fights with Laborites. If Broadway wins it will be a signal victory for Labor. Churchill denounced the Labor government of Premier Ramsay MacDonald and praised the Conservatives, although he is not running on the Conservative ticket.

TOKIO AGAIN FIGHTS PREFERENTIAL RATE

Tokio, March 19 (A.P.)—Japanese Ambassador Hanihara, at Washington, today was instructed to protest anew against Article 28 of the United States shipping laws, providing for preferential railway freight rates on cargo carried to and from the United States on American vessels.

The Foreign Office here contends the provision, which has been suspended since 1920, violates Articles 1 and 4 of the treaty of commerce and navigation of 1911. Cabled reports from Washington of the decision to enforce Article 28 on and after May 20 caused much excitement in Japanese shipping circles, where serious damage to Japanese shipping in the Pacific is forecast if the measure is enforced.

Chicago, March 19.—John W. Thompson, St. Louis and Chicago contractor, jointly indicted with Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' Bureau, charged today in a sworn statement in Federal District Court that the Grand Jury indictments had been obtained by "subterfuge, misrepresentation, false pretenses, duress and threats."

The statement was submitted in support of a motion by Thompson's counsel to quash the indictment against him.

SUITOR LOST BY MISS HARDING WEDS ANOTHER

Washington Diplomat Supposed Cause of Suicide of a Boston Banker's Daughter

Washington, March 19.—Stanley Hawkes of the diplomatic service, attached to the State Department, whose name was mentioned when Miss Margaret Enot Harding took her own life in Boston on January 24, has taken as his bride Miss Margaret Baldwin.

The ceremony was performed in Christ Church, Georgetown, and was attended by only a few friends and relatives.

Miss Harding, daughter of Governor W. P. G. Harding of the Boston Federal Reserve Bank, shot herself at the Harding home, No. 371 Beacon street, half an hour after she read in a Washington newspaper of the engagement of Hawkes to Miss Baldwin.

According to Miss Anna Hamlin, daughter of Charles S. Hamlin and closest friend of Miss Harding, she had been in love with Hawkes for many months. "It looked like a sure match," said Miss Hamlin.

When Miss Harding learned that Hawkes was engaged to Miss Baldwin she suffered a nervous shock and left Washington for Boston immediately, according to Miss Hamlin. "Not until half an hour before her death did she actually know that Miss Baldwin had accepted Hawkes and that they planned to wed," said the dead girl's chum.

DR. RUMELY GOES TO PRISON FOR YEAR

New York, March 19.—Dr. Edward A. Rumely, wartime publisher of the New York Evening Mail, was taken today to Westchester County Jail at White Plains, to begin a one-year sentence for violation of the trading with the enemy act in having concealed from the alien property custodian that his paper was German owned.

CHARGE PARENT KEPT GIRL FROM SCHOOL

For failing to send his daughter, Annie, eight years old, to school, Salvatore Albano of No. 345 Sumner street, East Boston, was taken to court today before Judge Barnes. The mother kept the girl home to care for four younger children while she worked in a bakery. The case was continued for a month.

Means-Minot Wedding Postponed Until Sunday, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE wedding of Mrs. Gardner Minot and William Gordon Means, which was to have taken place today, has been postponed until Sunday.

On that day the all-important ceremonial will be solemnized at the Washington home of the bride-to-be's stepfather and mother, General and Mrs. Clarence C. Williams.

The affair is to be as quiet and simple as possible, with only immediate members of the family present. There will be no attendants for Mrs. Minot, who was Constance Gardner, and is, as I presume everyone knows, the granddaughter of Senator Lodge.

Robert W. Means of Beverly Farms is to be best man for his brother, whose former wife is Mrs. Marjory Rice Means. The prospective groom, a Harvard man of the '08 class, spends most of his time at his Beverly Farms place.

I understand that the ceremony was postponed because of the delayed arrival of Mr. Means' mother, Mrs. Arthur Little, who has been spending the Winter on the Riviera with Mr. Little. Mrs. Little was recently taken ill in Mentone and for that reason was unable to sail at the time she had planned upon.

ON March 7 Mr. Means and the chatelaine of "Alhambra," Pride's Crossing, gave a dinner party at the Somerset Club, later taking their guests on to the Copley-Plaza for the last senior supper dance of the season.

Mrs. Francis P. Sears (Photo by White)

In the jolly company were, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Sears, the Reggy Fosters, Mr. and Mrs. I. Tucker Burr, Jr., the Harry Pratt McKeans, General and Mrs. Andre W. Brewster and the Ronald T. Lymans.

AMONG Boston folk who've been cruising about in Southern waters this Winter are Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Howes of Chestnut Hill.

Their yacht, the Santanita, has been anchored off Palm Beach, and they have given a number of delightful parties on board. Mr. Howes is a member of the Eastern Yacht Club.

A QUAINT "Cake Walk" will be one of the features of "Wake Up," the Vincent Club show coming to the Opera House next month.

Barbara Rice

Among those who have been selected to take part in the Cake Walk are the Misses Barbara Rice, Margaret Allen and Margaret Winslow, as well as Mesdames George Benedict, Jr., Henry Jackson, Jr., William A. Barron, Jr., W. T. S. Thorndike, Chester Wardwell and Graham T. Winslow.

Society Notes

MR. AND MRS. REGINALD BOARDMAN of Marlboro street are planning to remain late into the season at Palm Beach.

William H. Coolidge, Jr., of Manchester-by-the-Sea, is recovering from injuries received when he was thrown from his sled last month.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Davenport of the Boston colony at Hot Springs, entertained at dinner there the other evening, later taking their guests on to the "movies."

Miss Fanny Foster has come up from Newport for a visit with Boston friends.

Miss Isabella Mumford, Mrs. William Endicott, Mrs. J. Lewis Bremer and Miss Isabella Thompson are among the prominent folk playing in the matches at Chestnut Hill this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parsons King (Mary Parker) are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter born to them earlier in the month.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Barnard of "Riverbend Farm," Ipswich, will remain at the Breakers in Palm Beach until it closes the first week in April.

Killed in New York Fires

New York, March 19.—One man was killed and twenty families were saved in fires which partly destroyed small apartment buildings early today. He fell on his head and was instantly killed.

I do not believe that our women should be forced into contact with the seamy side of criminal procedure."

Policy of Overseas Man, 32, Maximum Service, Would Be Worth $1,966

Washington, March 19 (Universal)—A revised process for figuring out the maturity value of each veterans' insurance policy under the terms of the bonus bill that passed the House was supplied to members of the Ways and Means Committee by the actuary of the Veterans' Bureau. The key previously used by the committee men failed to take into account the difference in each policy on account of varying ages.

The table now available makes it possible for a veteran to determine exactly what his policy will be worth, if he knows the number of days he served at home and overseas.

Here is how it works out in the case of a veteran thirty-two years old, which is the average age of the ex-service men, according to the Veterans' Bureau.

First figure the number of days served. For each day at home, exclusive of the first sixty days, multiply by $1 and by $1.25 for each day overseas, up to a maximum of $625 for a man who saw overseas service and $500 for the home service veteran. Then add 25 per cent. of the total amount and multiply the grand total by the factor of 2.517 (two and five hundred and seventeen thousandths), the result will be the maturity value of the policy at the end of twenty years or upon death.

For example, the overseas veteran with the maximum number of days served gets $625 plus 25 percent, which makes $781.25, which multiplied by 2.517 makes $1966.40.

The home service veteran with maximum number of days gets $500 plus 25 percent making $625, which multiplied by 2.517 makes $1573.12.

By the same process and the following table any veteran can figure what the maturity value of his policy will be, the age being based on the birthday nearest the date of the application for the policy which must be made after the bill becomes a law, this Summer, if at all.

EHRAT'S GRATED CHEESE

It was not because the advantages of cheese were unknown that women did not serve more of it. They know cheese recipes are popular, and wholesome and nutritious as well, but who wanted the bother of chopping or grating the cheese? And even then it was not satisfactory—it invariably became lumpy and stringy when heated. But thousands of women have found out now that

DANCES ON SHIP SHOCK PASTOR DIXON

Baltimore, March 19.—The Rev. Amzi C. Dixon, former pastor of the Ruggles Street Baptist Church, Boston, returning here with his bride, whom he married in England, was shocked at the drinking, the gambling and the amazing dances indulged in each night on shipboard. McADOO DEFENDS WILSON REGIME

Nashville, Tenn., March 19.—Disclosures in Washington constitute "exclusively a Republican scandal and they will never be able to put one blot of it on the Wilson administration," William G. McAdoo said here. "This exhibition of graft in the capital today is the most flagrant in the history of the world. If 'normalcy' had fought the war in the same inefficient manner it has operated the government, it would have cost us hundreds of billions of dollars and millions of lives," Mr. McAdoo said.

Remarkable Discovery Banishes Gray Hair

A Proved Substitute for the Lost Pigmentation

Original Color Quickly Appears

Science again has scored a triumph in the discovery of a very remarkable liquid known as Kolor-Bak. If you are gray, just apply this liquid to the hair or scalp and your hair will soon take on the actual color it had in the past. Not a trace of grayness will remain.

Kolor-Bak comes in the form of a clean and colorless liquid, containing properties which quickly restore the lost color to the hair and give it renewed vigor. And note that the one preparation is for all colors of hair. No special solution required for each color—no samples of hair required.

You will find also that after using Kolor-Bak the hair has the same shade throughout. It does not appear streaked, faded or "dyed."

Every scientist, every physician, knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigments from certain tiny cells (called follicles or papillae) in the scalp, because these cells have become inactive from illness, shock of some kind, scalp disease, dandruff, infection, neglect of the hair, or lack of circulation, etc. But no matter what the cause of the grayness, it is simply amazing to see how it disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. Kolor-Bak is a real substitute for the natural pigmentation.

Kolor-Bak has been proved by hundreds of thousands of people, once gray, now with hair in the original color. Get a bottle today.

For Dandruff, Itching Scalp and Falling Hair

Kolor-Bak also banishes dandruff, and prevents itching of the scalp and falling hair. Thoroughly cleanses scalp and hair.

NEW ENGLAND HOSPITAL IS OPEN TO POOR

Internes on Call for Home Service to Women and Children

This is the fourth second of a series of articles which is a sequel to this newspaper's investigation of medical quackery in Greater Boston.

If you are not acquainted with reputable physicians and wish to make sure of obtaining expert advice and fair dealing, the series will show you how to avoid quacks by patronizing Boston's health centers, the best in the country.

Endowed free beds for the sick poor, seven large, well-equipped hospital buildings, and a staff of doctors whose names are instantly recognized as leaders in their profession are at the command of Boston residents at the New England Hospital for Women and Children, Columbus avenue and Dimock street, Roxbury.

There is no excuse for those in indigent circumstances wasting money on the fraudulent claims of quack physicians and surgeons with such an institution as this at their disposal.

From a small clinic established in 1859, this hospital has grown until it now occupies about nine acres of land in one of the healthiest sections of Boston. It maintains a large training school for nurses, a social service department, an out-patient department and an out-service department.

CLINICS DAILY.

General medical, surgical and obstetrical cases are treated at the hospital. Ear, nose, throat, skin, nerve dental and children's clinics are held daily in the out-patient department from 9 a. m. to 12 m.

Pre-natal clinics are held daily from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., and vaccination and Shick test clinics are held daily from 9 a. m. to 12 m.

Boys not over twelve are treated here. Women and children are treated without regard to age.

Three weeks' care may be had at the Maternity Hospital for $55. including a $5 registration fee; costs range upward from this sum to $35 and $45 a week, dependent upon the means of the patient and the accommodations and service required. Patients are given board and treatment free by proving inability to pay.

NO PUBLIC AID.

The New England Hospital, aside from money received from pay patients, is supported entirely by endowments and subscriptions from its friends. It receives no city or State aid, and even the fees for board and treatment cover only 50 per cent of the actual cost per patient.

There are 142 beds in the hospital, and last year 2,045 free days' care was given to patients; 748 visits were made by the interns in the out-patient department, and 1,459 visits made by the social service workers.

The hospital responds to calls day or night for the services of the internes, or doctors, their senior year, absolutely free of charge.

Miss Jessie E. Catton is superintendent of this hospital. Dr. Marjorie Woodman, Resident Physician. Other physicians and surgeons included in the staff are Marion Nute, Isabelle D. Kerr, Alice Gray, Mabel Lindsay, Elizabeth V. O'Neill, Grace Trafford, Olga Cushing, Leary Lot Anna S. Worthen.

JURY DISAGREES AGAIN IN TRIAL OF DELORME

Talesmen Are Dismissed After Failing to Decide Fate of Pastor in Death Case

Montreal, March 19.—For the second time a jury disagreed today at the trial of Adelard Delorme, former pastor charged with the murder of his half-brother, Raoul Delorme. The jurors were dismissed after several hours' deliberation.

After a jury had been unable to agree on a verdict after Delorme's first trial, the court ordered him held in an asylum for the insane.

Physicians recently declared Delorme to be mentally competent and the second trial was ordered.

The half-frozen body of Raoul Delorme, a University of Ottawa student, was found beside a road on the outskirts of this city on January 6, 1922, with six bullet wounds in the head. His half-brother, Adelard, was arrested immediately. It was charged he killed the youth so as to inherit $150,000 which, as guardian and administrator of Raoul's affairs, Adelard knew had been willed to himself.

It was testified that shortly before Raoul's death Adelard purchased a pistol of the calibre of the fatal bullets that he had induced his half-brother to take out a $25,000 life insurance, and that he was seen driving near the spot where Raoul's body was found. The defence offered an alibi.

Veteran Gave His Health; Who Will Give Him Job?

A veteran of the 42nd Infantry, who served as physical instructor for eight years before entering the army, seeks employment in a clerical position.

He is a well-mannered, average student with two years vocational training at Boston University College of Business Administration. He has completed his training and is ready for placement with an employer that can offer some fair assurance of employment when his placement period ends on May 31.

This rehabilitated veteran is thirty-seven years of age and resides in Cambridge.

If you are interested in this man call Congress 7600—The Boston Chamber of Commerce —and ask for Case No. 60.

LAWRENCE P. O. CLERK FOUND WOUNDED

Mystery in Case of Albert L. Olmstead, Discovered Unconscious on P. O. Floor

Lawrence, March 19.—Albert L. Olmstead, of No. 18 Rowe street, a clerk in the Lawrence Postoffice, was found unconscious on the postoffice floor early today with a wound behind one ear.

Only a few minutes before Olmstead, who had just reported for work, was chatting with a group of postal employes.

He left them and went to another part of the floor. When his fellow-workers found him, less than fifteen minutes later, he lay unconscious.

Olmstead was sent to the Lawrence General Hospital, where he was said to be suffering from shock.

Postal employes expressed themselves as mystified by the occurrence, although they recalled that some time ago he sustained injuries in an accident.

Slaughter of Crows Is Denounced by Maine Governor

Augusta, March 19.—Indignation that $2,500 in prizes had been offered for the killing of crows, which he termed "one of the farmers' friends," was expressed by Governor Percival P. Baxter in a statement today.

"Evidently the market for powder has fallen off, due to the fact that there is no active warfare going on in the world on a large scale, and so the poor crows must be used as an outlet for an unsalable product," said the Governor.

"This is an economic as well as a humane issue. The crows of New England occasionally do tear up some of the farmers' seed corn, and a man is justified in protecting his property. This, however, is very different from inaugurating a nation-wide killing."

How to Keep Well

By DR. F. X. MAHONEY, Boston Health Commissioner.

THE average person has a constant dread of diseases of the kidneys.

This is probably due to the fact that most kidney ailments are insidious and the afflicted person does not know of his ailment until his conditions is serious.

Nephritis is one of the most common kidney diseases. It is of two kinds—acute and chronic.

Dr. Mahoney.

Acute nephritis may follow scarlet fever, diphtheria, small pox, pneumonia, a complication of tuberculosis or typhoid fever. It may also occur in pregnancy.

Chronic nephritis may follow acute nephritis. More frequently it progresses slowly without acute symptoms. Those who indulge in alcoholic liquors, or who eat large quantities of meat, seem most susceptible to the disease, although nearly all old persons show some symptoms. Malaria may also a cause.

The test to determine whether the symptoms are those of the chronic or of the mild type is by examination of the water.

Headache, nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea, convulsions, or sometimes even unconsciousness, are other symptoms of the acute attack, which follows exposure to cold and dampness, alcoholic intemperance, turpentine or lead poisoning, or poisoning from mercury or carbolic acid.

Profuse sweating is the treatment in the acute disease, and in the mild form when acute symptoms are apparent. Roll the patient in blankets, to induce body sweating, but be sure to watch the patient for signs of exhaustion when the induced sweating should be discontinued. Give Epsom salts, and be sure to give plenty of water to drink, with a milk diet. A warm dry climate is the best atmosphere surrounding for the chronic form.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Have been told that I have pus pockets in my throat. It feels as if there was a lump there all the time.

Mrs. M. I. P.

It is impossible to tell from your description whether or not you have pus pockets in your throat. Unless you can give me some other more definite symptom, I would suggest that you place yourself under the care of some competent physician.

Can anything be done for a weakness of the nails? E. A. F.

If it is a natural condition and is not been brought about by disease, nothing can be done about it. If it follows a disease, it would be advisable for you to have a thorough physical examination.

I would like information: 1. In regard to Liquid Oxygen for the cure of external cancer and the removal of birthmarks from the skin. 2. In regard to taking out tonsils by the electrical form instead of the knife. J. F. L.

Liquid Oxygen has not been proved to be a cure all for cancer or for birthmarks. The removal of the tonsils by the electrical form is an ambulatory method of treatment for the removal of the tonsils by cauterization, it has been said to cause a cancer, but has not been so successful as the removal by the knife.

What are symptoms of tuberculosis? Do you have pains around the heart? Is a dry cough a symptom? Mrs. A. C.

Continued loss of weight, tired feeling, night sweats and in the advanced stage, bloody sputa, are the general symptoms of tuberculosis. Pains around the heart do not necessarily indicate tuberculosis, neither does a dry cough necessarily accompany this disease. An examination of the sputum in a competent laboratory may aid in a rapid diagnosis.

Are blotches caused by a bad stomach and are they dangerous? Mrs. E. F. P.

Blotches have many causes, some of which are serious. It is impracticable to attempt to advise you without knowledge of your general physical condition. Explain the symptoms to your physician.

You Who Wish

Whiter, cleaner, safer teeth have only to fight the film

Accept this offer of a new way of teeth cleaning. It is delighting millions. It is bringing them the prettier teeth you see everywhere today.

It means vast benefits which your home should enjoy. Let this test show them to you.

You leave film

You feel on your teeth a viscous film. No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats it, so much of it clings and stays.

Soon the film discolors, forming dingy coats. Then pearly teeth grow cloudy.

Film is the great destroyer. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Those who escaped such troubles have been few indeed.

Two new methods

Dental science has in late years found two ways to fight that film. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

These methods have proved themselves exceedingly effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists everywhere began to advise it. Now this tooth paste is in world-wide use. To careful people of some 50 nations it has brought a new dental era.

Every user knows

Every user gains at once new benefits, new delights.

Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. It multiplies the starch digestant in saliva. These are Nature's agents for combating acids and starch deposits. These combined effects will bring you new conceptions of clean teeth.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

Then decide by what you see and feel. Cut out coupon now.

'FRAMING' MADE HIM TURN, SAYS LEVENSON

Says He Volunteered Story to State, but Denies He Got "Deal"

Harry E. Levenson, testifying today in Middlesex Superior Court in the trial of William J. Corcoran and others charged with conspiracy to attempt to extort money from Kenneth Merrill, Newton textile manufacturer, said under cross-examination that he agreed to turn State's evidence when he felt his former associates had "framed" him.

Questioned by Herbert Callahan, attorney for J. Warren Kane, one of the defendants, Levinson frequently extended his remarks and Judge Whiting at one time admonished him to confine his answers to the questions.

Levenson was questioned about his illness and the possible effect a jail sentence would have on his condition.

Q—You are a pretty sick man and have been for some time? A—Yes.

Q—Your malady is advancing? A—Yes.

Q—If you were sent to prison it might mean your death? A—Not necessarily.

"JAIL NOT WORST PLACE."

Q—Haven't you told people if you went to jail or prison you would die? A—I would if I went to that jail across the street (referring to the Cambridge jail).

Q—Didn't you tell a great many people if you were sent to prison you would die? A—Possibly, but I don't think jail is the worst place.

Q—Your malady has made you irritable and excitable? A—Yes.

Q—During the last trial in Suffolk County you began to feel you were being framed? A—Yes, and I have the evidence.

Q—Kindly answer yes or no. A—Yes, I knew I was being framed.

Q—And you decided to turn against those framing you? A—Yes.

Q—And you immediately started business with the government? A—I volunteered my information.

Q—You know as a lawyer you would get a deal? A—I got no deal and didn't ask for any until my wife came in and asked for it.

Q—You were working out your revenge on those that framed you, when you turned over to the government. A—I was telling the truth, and it was about time it came out.

Q—There came a time after you talked with the government officials that you felt your story was worth something in the way of immunity? A—I don't know about that.

Q—Don't you know that you were given immunity for the information which you furnished? A—No. I got it for pleading guilty.

Mr. Callahan referred to Levenson as a "crusader of the truth" and got him to admit that when he "went over to the government" he went as a satanist, as a student of clairvoyancy and as an ordained minister of spiritualism, giving the government all of his life experience.

Assistant District Attorney Bushnell objected to the use of these terms, but the court allowed them.

ASSISTS BUSHNELL.

Q—You would like to see the government prevail? A—Yes, and it will, eventually. The last answer was excluded on objections.

Q—Don't you feel that the burden rests upon you, and that but for your evidence this case would not even go to the jury?

This question was excluded by Judge Whiting.

Levenson admitted that he had stated Assistant District Attorney Bushnell with suggestions and information as the trial progressed. He said he told Bushnell that Bushnell had omitted in his opening address any reference to the fact that J. Warren Kane had taken a quart of whiskey to the Hancock street apartment in Cambridge on the night of the alleged "raid" which involved Merrill.

LAD AND HIS COLLIE HEROES AT FIRE

JAMES E. DOHERTY AND "TEDDY."

TWINS REUNITE

troubles embarrassed her, she decided to part with Jimmie for a month or two.

She saw that the boy loved the outdoors and she knew he would get more of it at the home than in the third-story flat whohe the Buckleys lived. So she placed Jimmie again in the home where she and little Josephine were to be allowed to see him once every month.

But when they went for their first visit, in July, 1903, they say they were told that Jimmie was "in the country." From that time on, they say, the home refused to tell where the boy was until the intercession of the Rev. James A. Donnelly less than a week ago.

WEPT FOR BROTHER.

"Poor Josephine and I cried night after night," said Mrs. Margaret Buckley, the aunt. "When Jo was nine and received her first Holy Communion, she came home and cried bitterly all night long for her little brother, yearning for his company in the 'events' of her little life.

"Oh, I'm awfully unhappy,' she told me."

"On Christmas Days and birthdays it was worse," said Josephine today. "In between times I felt as if part of me was missing. I was never happy.

"How well I remember seeing Jimmie Brady running into the Frothingham Grammar School, while I was hurrying to the very same classroom, thinking of my lost brother."

And meanwhile, as Jim now recalls, he used to play in front of the Buckley house and sit on the Buckley doorstep waiting for his pals.

"I knew my right name was Buckley, but I didn't know where my sister lived or a thing about her," said Jim. "When I went to City Hall for my birth certificate, upon first going to work, the clerk asked me my right name and I told him Buckley. He told me there was a card right next to mine in the files for my twin sister. Out at the Home nobody would tell me where I could find her."

Strangely enough Josephine went to City Hall and had the same experience. Recalling the unfamiliarity of tastes and habits have been found in each other by Jim and Josephine, in spite of their separate bringing up.

Josephine made her last appeal to the Home and the Charitable Bureau only last week. When she returned home she told her aunt:

"Mama, the sister wouldn't tell me where he is. She may tell me in a week.

Then Fr. Donnelly enlisted his aid and an agent of the Charitable Bureau went to see Mrs. Brady, Jim's "mother." Mrs. Brady called on Mrs. Buckley. Sunday night found Josephine at Jim's front window waiting for him to come home.

"There's my brother," she suddenly cried, realizing as soon as she saw the lad she liked at the dance that he was closer even than a sweetheart.

Jim says he saw the wistful face at the window and, knowing she was to be waiting for him, he took five minutes to brace himself for the meeting and then went in. They fell into each other's arms.

Jim took Josephine to the movies and they got acquainted. Josephine is back at her work today in the packing department of a Cambridge biscuit factory, but she isn't thinking a thing about biscuits. And Jim, who is a basketball star and distance runner, is thinking about his new routes.

JAIL ARMY MEN

After conferring with President William T. Cosgrove, Minister of Commerce Joseph McGrath tendered his resignation for the second time.

The ringleaders in the mutineer plot allege inefficiency and are protesting also against reduction and reorganization of the army.

Following their arrest, Tobin and Dalton escaped, slipping over roof tops to safety.

A second group of arrested officers included Colonels O'Malley, Shanahan, O'Leary and Thornton.

It was understood formal charges would be made against the prisoners, accusing them of giving aid and sympathy to the mutineers.

The trouble began late Tuesday night when troops surrounded Devlin's public house in Parnell street. Soldiers entered and searched the premises finding ten officers upon the roof who had left their posts without notice. All were arrested.

Major-General Tobin gave the following message to International News Service:

"The government last week promised to make inquiry into the grievances of officers. These rules, such as last night, constitute an absolute breach of the government's pledge to the officers."

"Teddy's" Bark Helps Master and Policeman Arouse Charlestown Family

Eight children were rescued from their beds by a policeman, a boy and a dog during a fire in the house at No. 5 Concord avenue, Charlestown.

Smoke was rolling up through the two-story wooden structure when

Francis Desmond. John Desmond.

Patrolman Farley of the City square station raced up the stairs to the second floor.

He aroused Mr. and Mrs. James F. Desmond and then led Francis, eight; John and Joseph, ten-year-old twins, and the five other Desmond children to the street.

The parents made their way way through the thick smoke.

James Doherty, sixteen, of No. 6 Concord avenue, who discovered the blaze, cut his wrist severely when he crashed his fist through a lower floor window.

Joseph Desmond

His dog "Teddy," a large collie, with him at the time, helped to arouse the tenants by loud barking.

Despite his injuries, Doherty raced to a fire box and sounded the alarm.

He was taken to the Relief Hospital in a police ambulance, where he was treated.

The fire started on the first floor of the dwelling from an undetermined cause. Firemen confined the blaze to that floor, with a damage estimated at $200.

ing books which the receivers expected to find among the records hidden in the barn and attic of James Lamont's Summer home were the books which had to do with the Boston-Montana transactions.

ANOTHER MAN VANISHES.

There has been a nervous feeling in certain brokerage circles during the past few days owing to the death of the State and Federal investigations of Boston brokerage houses.

William E. Sheridan, father of the partial payment scheme, and Redmond's "financial adviser," has not been seen in town for several days. His son is reported to have left school here a week ago and is believed to be staying in a Chicago hotel. Other members of the Sheridan family are also out of town, it is said.

G. F. Redmond and James Lamont are staying at a downtown hotel. Neither Mrs. Redmond nor Mrs. Lamont is with them.

Another figure in the Redmond affairs is said to have left town yesterday.

It has developed in the probe of the Redmond books that the firm had not been using W. L. Jarvis & Co. as their New York correspondents for some time prior to the crash.

PROBE REDMOND COMBINE.

Details of the methods used by the Redmond firm in bucketing trades are being dug out by investigators with view to finding just what part was played in the transactions by other firms.

That there has been a combination existing in which G. F. Redmond & Co. was the central figure has been known by investigators for some time. They now hope to trace this combination through the affairs of the Boston-Montana Company. It is for this reason that subpoenas will be issued for next week.

At the time the Boston & Montana Mine in this State, Harry F. Sears, publicity agent for the mining company, made his headquarters in the Chicago offices of G. F. Redmond & Co.

MOVIES SOLD STOCK.

What the motion pictures used for Sears in connection with his publicity campaign were shown in Boston. Redmond's salesmen were ordered to attend and keep the audience of prospective customers enthusiastic.

One employe says Redmond asked him the next day what he thought of the picture. The employe answered that the picture impressed him more than the mine.

"It would cost $25 to mine every $20 worth of ore taken from that mine," said the employe.

"I know it," Redmond is alleged to have answered, "but it makes a good stock selling proposition."

The loss is estimated at $15,000. Nine head of cattle were burned. Navaroli was in court last February accused of shooting Daniel Antinarli of West Boylston. He was acquitted. WOMAN DOCTOR FOUND SLAIN IN HER HOME

Former Wife of Millionaire and Five Times Wed, Killed After Struggle

Kansas City, Mo., March 19.—Helped to a transom window to gaze into the office of a woman physician who had not been seen since Sunday, a small boy by the name of Isador Cortez found the mutilated body of Dr. Zoe Wilkins, former wife of a millionaire banker of Joplin.

Little Isador managed to climb down again and then fainted in the arms of Mrs. L. F. Palmer, who had called to collect the rent.

SLASHED TO DEATH

There was a gash on Dr. Wilkins's forehead, the boy said, and another in her throat, quite evidently made by the rusty pocket knife, he could see beside the body.

When the police arrived and forced an entrance they found a big brown and white cat walking around the body and "meowing" in a way they thought peculiar.

Letters and papers were scattered around every room in the house which apparently had been thoroughly ransacked. The upset condition of the room in which the body was found, detectives said, indicated that the murder had been preceded by a terrible struggle.

WAS GIVEN $300,000

The pretty young doctor, an electronic practitioner and chiropractor, had been married five times. The financial affairs of Dr. Wilkins are being examined in an effort to solve her gruesome murder.

Dr. Wilkins was once the wife of the late Thomas W. Cunningham, aged Joplin banker, from whom she obtained more than $300,000 before he divorced her.

Dr. Wilkins kept hidden in her home securities worth more than $100,000, according to Jesse James, her attorney. He said she lived in constant fear of her life.

Dr. Wilkins spent lavishly after she induced her banker husband to turn over to her a large part of his wealth, but lately there were indications that she was not so prosperous.

As a student of osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo., Zoe Wilkins, when nineteen, began her matrimonial ventures. She married a fellow student named Dreyer, from whom she separated in Texas about a year later. Next she married Dr. C. K. Garring, from whom she also was separated.

In 1916 she married Cunningham, the banker, and later her chauffeur-companion, A. W. Marsheffel.

Fears for Life

ANNA MELIA

Miss Anna Melia of No. 58 Medford street, Medford, who was shot at while in the window of her room by Albert L. Case, a rejected suitor, declared she fears death at Case's hands so much she is afraid to leave the house.

Case, who was fined $100 in the Malden Court for carrying a pistol, was acquitted of a charge of assault with intent to kill Miss Melia despite the fact he at first had pleaded guilty.

The girl accuses Case, who lives in Somerville, of sending her threatening letters through the mail in which he said if he failed to kill her the first time he would make another attempt as soon as he was released from jail.

Attilio Piccirilli Accused in New York of Cruel and Inhuman Treatment

New York, March 19.—Attilio P. Piccirilli, sculptor, one of the six Piccirilli brothers who are sculptors, has been sued for separation by his wife, Mrs. Julia Piccirilli, on the grounds of cruelty and inhuman treatment.

The court action is revealed in a report filed in Supreme Court by Miss Ruth Lewison, the referee, that Piccirilli can pay $30 a week alimony pending suit. Piccirilli denied the charges, as he also did accusations by his wife that he had paid attention to her two unmarried sisters.

The Piccirilli brothers have made several notable contributions to art, including the Maine memorial here, "The Outcast" in the Church of St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie, a memorial statue in Albany and "The Soul" in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

TRAFFIC HALTED BY DOUGHNUT SMOKE

Explosion of Grease in Dewey Square Restaurant Flue Calls Fire Apparatus

A dense cloud of black smoke filled Dewey square and streets intersecting when a pan of doughnut grease boiled over in the kitchen of Wentworth Lunch, was sucked up the flue and exploded.

The explosion was felt in all the first-floor stores in the block at the corner of Purchase street, Federal street and Atlantic avenue.

The blazing grease ran over the floor in the kitchen and employes there fled. Some received a shower of grease, tossed around by the explosion.

Meanwhile pedestrians on the streets outside found themselves engulfed in a smoke screen that poured down from the chimney of the building.

Traffic, in a maze on account of the smoke, was stopped when fire apparatus began to pour into the square.

The blaze and the water from the sprinkler system put an end to the "cooked foods" menu for luncheon in the restaurant, and the bakeshop, which lies under the restaurant kitchen, was also put out of business. Actual damage to property amounted to a few hundred dollars.

Keeping Millions Free From Colds and La Grippe

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine.

FLIERS EAGER FOR HOP-OFF TO SEATTLE

Globe-Circlers All Set for the Third Leg, With 700-Mile Path Covered

Eugene, Ore., March 19.—Facing the third leg of their round-the-world flight, the big Douglas planes which landed here Tuesday from Mather Field, Sacramento, are ready for the air again after a careful going-over by mechanics.

The fliers, Major Frederick L. Martin and Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Leigh Wade, rested after being entertained at a banquet.

The flight today is scheduled to end at Seattle, but a brief stop is to be made at Vancouver Barracks, Wash., where it was originally planned to end the second leg.

Decision to stop at Eugene was made just before the second leg started, it being decided the distance to Vancouver Barracks was too great and that the trip from Eugene to Seattle could be made easily today.

Major Martin was the first to ascend here, being followed a minute later by Lieutenant Smith.

Lieutenant Wade, third of the outfits that left Cloverfield Monday morning, dropped to a landing, after having been delayed at Cottonwood, Cal., because of engine trouble.

Major Martin said the flight was made at an altitude of about 6,000 feet and the passage over the Siskiyous he described as being wonderful.

Stiff winds from the north bucked the planes the entire distance and slowed up their speed, which was calculated, however, at about 100 miles an hour, the same as the average set in the flight Monday to Sacramento from Santa Monica.

42-HOUR WEEK IS WON BY STRIKERS

Garment Workers Also Get 10 Per Cent. Raise on Piece Work

The strike of 1,500 women garment workers of Boston which began February 19 last has been settled by Mayor Curley.

A forty-two hour week, to be worked in five days, and a ten per cent. increase in wages in piece-work shops is conceded to the strikers.

Mayor Curley was called in as a mediator a few days ago. The strikers had been refused their demand of a forty-hour week with ten per cent. increase in wages for piece workers.

Committees from both sides and also Miss Anna Weinstock of the Commission of Conciliation of the Department of Labor, Washington, thanked the Mayor on his success in bringing both sides to a mutual understanding.

The committees included Abraham Baroff of New York general secretary and treasurer of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, Salvatore Ninfo, New York, first vice-president, and Fred Monosson, international vice-president of New England, of the union, and Jack Golpack representing the manufacturers.

BARRAGE OF BOTTLES GREET DRY RAIDERS

New York, March 19.—E. C. Yellowley, district dry chief from Washington, and three other prohibition officers who seized a quantity of beer, wines and whiskey in an early morning raid on a Bronx cafe today were met by a barrage of bottles when eight policemen stationed at the entrance rushed to their assistance, fired by several of the 100 diners in the place, and escaped only after with drawn guns.

The World's Record

THE Metropolitan is mutually owned by its 21,000,000 policyholders. Its assets belong to the policyholders. They are accumulated to meet policy obligations and for no other purpose. Every policyholder is a capitalist—an investor—and his interest should be recognized by legislators and commissioners. The policyholders own over $313,000,000 in railroad securities; $606,000,000 in real estate mortgages; $80,000,000 in public utility bonds; $200,000,000 in Government obligations.

One person in every six in the United States and Canada is a holder of a Metropolitan policy—one of the safest forms of investment.

In 1923 the Metropolitan grew faster than any other life insurance company in the world; grew in income—in assets—and in the effectiveness of its campaign for better health for the whole country.

The Metropolitan sends trained nurses to the homes of thousands of Industrial (i. e. weekly premium) policyholders when they are sick. In 1923 these nurses made 2,482,919 visits.

While the average life span in the general population of the United States is 5½ years greater than it was 11 years ago, the life span of the Industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan increased nearly 8½ years in the same interval. This greater gain has resulted in large part from the Metropolitan's Health Service.

During 1923 the Metropolitan distributed 33,790,840 booklets and pamphlets dealing with health, general welfare and longer life. The total number of pieces distributed to date amounts to 305,990,507.

The Metropolitan arranges for free periodic health examinations for holders of Ordinary policies. Among those who availed themselves of this privilege, the death rate was found to be 28% lower than was expected for the group.

The Metropolitan cooperates with the companies to which it has issued group insurance for their employees—cooperates not only in giving insurance protection but also to promote better health, better working conditions, better living conditions and happier social conditions.

Life Insurance, which cares for the home and family, is born of a deep sense of responsibility. When millions of people join in a mutual sharing of this responsibility the result is the splendid picture shown in the 1923 report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Never before has the world seen such a Business Statement nor had such an opportunity to look into the hearts of men and women, and to find there —Kindness.

Haley Fiske, President.

EDDIE RECORD GIVEN THE DECISION OVER JACK SHARKEY

EACH SENT OTHER TO FLOOR

By JACK CONWAY

Eddie Record of Nashua, N. H., was awarded the decision over Jack Sharkey of Roxbury after ten gruelling rounds of battling at the Armory A. A.'s show at the Grand Opera House.

Although the verdict went to Record, this writer was of the opinion that Sharkey's aggressiveness and superior punching power won for him the quarrel.

WOULD HAVE BEEN A DRAW IN OLD DAYS

It was one of those bouts which would have been declared a draw in the old days. Sharkey was by far the better at old-fashioned fighting, while Record grabbed all of the blue-ribbons at clever boxing.

At several stages during the encounter it appeared as if Sharkey's walloping ability would give him the victory. Record would then call into play his knowledge of the fine points of the fistic art and avoid defeat.

EACH FIGHTER SCORES A KNOCKDOWN

Each fighter scored a knockdown. Record dropped Sharkey for the count of six in the eighth frame and Sharkey knocked the Nashua, N. H. fighter through the ropes in the ninth frame. Referee Jerry Moore counted three before Record got back into action.

Sharkey claimed that Record's so-called knockdown was a foul blow. Prior to the knockdown Record hit low, but Sharkey continued to fight although badly hurt. Then came a blow to the body and Sharkey went down. He probably was weak as a result of the low sock which was delivered a minute earlier. The bell sounded as the referee counted six.

BOTH TOOK PLENTY OF HEAVY PUNISHMENT.

Both fighters took plenty of heavy punishment. A big cash was opened on the left side of Record's head. Dr. O'Connor, representative of the boxing commission, reconvened after an examination that the tussle be stopped.

Record insisted, however, on fighting on. Sharkey showed good [illegible] punches at Record's injury during [illegible] in the ninth.

For the most of the distance, Sharkey was the aggressor. He let drive with terrific left and right hand punches to the head and body many of which reached their mark.

Record excelled at defensive boxing. He made his opponent miss many wild swings, while he, himself, scored with some effective body blows when at close quarters.

It was the fastest bout between big fellows staged in Boston in many months. Record weighed 174 pounds, Sharkey 187.

It was Sharkey's fourth professional bout. The former heavy weight champion of the Navy showed great improvement over his previous starts. He was opposed by a seasoned campaigner, and although the decision was rendered against him, he made a big hit with the fans.

It is very apparent that after Sharkey has gained a little more ring experience that he will be able to hold his own with the fast steppers in the heavyweight division.

This writer picked Sharkey to win. Therefore, Record's win tosses the dear old dope for a loss.

JACK McLELLAN WON OVER TED COOLIDGE.

Jack McLellan of Somerville upset Ted Coolidge of Manchester, N. H., in the semi-final of eight rounds. It was a hard, tough fight, McLellan's skill offsetting Coolidge's wallop.

Charley Flanagan of Dorchester stopped Tommy Murphy of Somerville in one round, and Matty Cordes of Lynn upset Freddy Mitchell of this city in three sessions.

Dave Nalligan and Al Nates were the Judges. Arthur Burns the timer.

A capacity crowd witnessed the show, which proves the popularity of heavyweights.

WARD TO FIGHT SHEVLIN ON FRIDAY

George Ward of Elizabeth, N. J., old-time rival of Eddie Shevlin, instead of Jimmy Jones the Youngstown, O., welterweight, will meet the Roxbury boxing master Friday night at Mechanics Building.

George Ward.

This is the fightining change which was forced on the Commercial Club card. Jones ran out of the match and left Bob McKirdy high and dry for a match until he got Ward.

Now that the Commercial Club has procured Ward to meet Shevlin it is the consensus of opinion that the bout is better than the original match.

Jones gave no excuse for running out of the fight. He simply said that the match never was made.

As the Commercial Club has telegrams from the manager of Jones which accepted terms, it is expected that the boxing commission will take some action.

Trying to find an opponent for Shevlin proved no sinecure. Few welterweights in the country are eager to meet the Roxbury boy as was evidenced when McKirdy burned up a stack of coin in making futile long distance telephone calls.

Ward, however, saved the day and now that this match is clinched Hub fandom will take interest in it. It is just the match that Shevlin desired.

Nothing could be sweeter so far as Shevlin is concerned as he is eager to demonstrate the fact that he is Ward's superior in ring skill.

Ward and Shevlin have fought three times. The first time Shevlin won, although Ward a top-heavy favorite. Ward and his famous "sneak punch" got the honors in the second fight and in their last fight won again. Shevlin has claimed that an injured ankle beat him in the last fight.

Now Shevlin is out to prove his contention that he is better than Ward and the bout is sure to prove a big magnet.

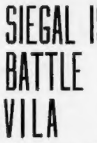
NATE SIEGAL IS TO BATTLE AVILA

The Nate Siegal-Johnny Avila bout, that was scheduled for the Casino A. C. of Lynn last week, will feature next Monday night's show at the Shoe City Club.



Nate Siegal

Siegal has recovered from the injury that caused him to cancel the bout, and the Revere boy says he is ready to continue his comeback that has all the fistic fans talking.

The postponement was also a great boon to Avila as the two extra weeks' training has worked wonders in him and he is in the finest condition of his career and he feels confident he will not only cause a halt to Siegal's come back but he is confident he will stop the Revere boy.

Tommy Marks of Boston will try to stop the winning streak of Matty Cardos, the Lynn examinator, who has not lost a bout since he joined the money chasers. This pair is carded for eight rounds in the semi-final.

Manager Brown has closed negotiations for a game between the Maples and New Havens for Saturday night as part of a twin bill.

JACK DEMPSEY SAYS FIRPO REPORT HOKUM

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 19.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, doesn't take much stock in press reports of Luis Angel Firpo's contemplated retirement.

"That's a lot of hokum, I think," he said after he saw the report.

"It looks like a publicity scheme and perhaps a movement to increase his demands for future fights in the United States," Dempsey said.

"The shrill cry of the American Eagle is too tempting for any fellow who can 'hook' like the 'Wild Bull of the Pampas.'"

Cobb Wants a Strong Pitching Staff for Tigers

Augusta, Ga., March 19.—Determined to recruit for Detroit a good pitching staff if the miracle can be performed, Ty Cobb brought fifteen pitchers here and is giving each a more thorough tryouts than perhaps any manager in history.

Cobb feels he can win the 1924 pennant if he can get five first class pitchers to work under the Tiger standard.

CUDDY SELECTS JOHNNY MOORE AND ZINE

The two best 118-pound boys in New England have been selected to represent Boston in the international amateur boxing tournament at Mechanics Building next Monday night. The Boston boys will tackle the boxers of Toronto and Buffalo.

Eddie Zine

Johnny Moore, the hard punching North End boy, and Eddie Zine, a South End ring warrior, have been picked by Chairman William H. Cuddy for that class.

This will be good news to the followers of the simon pures. These boys are the class of their division, and the Toronto and Buffalo boxers must be the best that ever came here to win.

This tournament is for the benefit of the Olympian Committee. The proceeds will be turned over to the committee to help defray the expenses of the trip to France.

Four classes, 115, 125, 135 and 147 pounds will be held in the intercity classes, while there also will be three open classes at 112, 160 and heavyweight.

Willie Corbett, the Harvard law student, accuses Eddie Williams of East Boston of loafing in preference to meeting him.

HARVARD HOLDS BOXING TITLE TOURNEY

The annual boxing championships at Harvard will get underway in the Hemenway gymnasium on Friday night. The bouts have attracted the husky talent in football, baseball and crew. More than 100 entries have been received.

Heinie Dunker

In the 112-pound class there will be plenty of class. George G. Blair, runner-up last year and as shifty a man with the gloves as can be found in the university, will battle for honors against F. R. Sullivan and M. Dion

Krook, 115-pound university wrestling champion last year.

Charles E. Forsyth, winner of the 115 and 125-pound championships last year, is the leading entry in the 118 and 125-pound classes. He will meet strong opposition from P. H. Grant, former title holder at Dartmouth, in the latter class.

The lightweight championship battle should develop plenty of fire, weeks when J. J. Friedman, holder of the title for two years, battles against Paul E. Pieris, former University of Cambridge, England, champion.

Plenty of material is on hand in the welterweights. George E. Davis, champion of 1923, will defend his title against C. G. Page, former Princeton star, and Joe Courtney, of West Virginia.

The 160-pound class has three outstanding entries: D. S. Murzey, champion; E. F. Gamache, varsity football centre, and Mitchell Gratwick, former baseball, football and track star at Harvard.

Heinie Dunker is the leading entry in the heavyweight class.

JOHNNY DREW WANTS BOUT WITH FINNEGAN

Johnny Drew has had a number of offers for contests, but has refused all, as he is very desirous of disposing of Honeyboy Finnegan before he takes on any other opponent. Then he will be ready to box the rubber contest with Red Chagnon whom he had no trouble in defeating in Worcester.

FIRPO WILL GO IN FOR AUTO RACING

Indianapolis, March 19 (Universal). —A cablegram from Luis Angel Firpo, announces that the "Wild Bull of the Pampas" intends to invade the automobile road racing field after his retirement from the prize ring, following his bout with Al Reich.

Luis Firpo

In a message to a local motor car manufacturer Firpo orders them to build for him a "Special racing car that will do at least 115 miles an hour and will be especially adapted to muddy roads."

Firpo and Martin De Alzarga, a millionaire race driver of Argentina remembered for his daring driving in the last 160-mile race here, and another motor distributor, have formed a company in Argentina.

Firpo is expected here early this Summer to inspect the new car and see it go through its tryout on the local motor speedway.

SWIM CAMPAIGN ON AT "Y" UNTIL MAY 3

The Learn-To-Swim campaign in progress at the Huntington avenue branch of the Y. M. C. A., which the Association hopes to make the biggest of the kind ever conducted in this section, will continue until May 3.

During the week of May 14, a swimming campaign for boys will be conducted, the drive continuing until warm weather and outdoor pools stops it.

"We shall in the next several weeks teach as many men as possible to swim," says Major Frank B.

PIMLICO WILL HOLD TWELVE STAKE RACES

Baltimore, March 19.—Twelve stakes will be run at the Spring meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club at the Pimlico course, May 1 to 13.

Dorothy Ryan Is Sold

New Orleans, March 19.—J. L. Donovan will ship the horses now here in his care to Havre de Grace March 25.

He has sold Charley Cafarelli's filly, Dorothy Ryan, to W. J. Bray of Omaha.

DUFFY BENEFIT IS AT GRAND TONIGHT

An appeal to the heart.

Backed by a brilliant program.

This is why the testimonial to Freddy Duffy, former lightweight star, at the Grand Opera House tonight will attract a capacity crowd.

No promoter could afford to pay the talent which will appear at the testimonial for the former Jamaica Plain ring star.

The leading stars of the theatrical shows now in Boston will be there, also every boxer of note hereabouts.

As Larry Costello of Charlestown said:

"I may not show as well as Eddie Shevlin and some of the champions, but I shall do my best as everybody else will tonight."

Duffy was one of the leading lightweights in the country ten years ago. He gave Jack Britton and Matt Wells bitter battles.

Duffy went into the trucking business following his retirement from the boxing game. Recently Freddy met a series of losses. First his wife died, leaving him with seven children. His three trucks were then destroyed by fire.

It was a total loss as he didn't have them covered by insurance.

Two of his children then were taken ill.

Naturally Duffy's friends have rallied to his aid.

May the testimonial tonight be a huge success.

SOUTH END AMATEUR HAS A KAYO RECORD

Eddie Devine of the South End, Boston has a featherweight who compares with the much-talked-of Berlenbach for k. o. honors.

The sensation of the amateur ranks started boxing two months ago, and has stopped 17 out of 20 opponents. He won 19 straight bouts. He lost his first bout at Lynn last week. Ted Blodgett was given a questionable win over the South End sensation.

Eddie Devine

In this bout Blodgett was sent to the canvas, and to most of the crowd was knocked out.

Lonnie Babby and Jimmy Harmon are the only other boys who won three rounds with Devine.

Devine has been selected by B. Cuddy to represent Boston in the Tri-City show at Mechanics Building next Monday in the 125-pound class.

Devine was discovered by Bobb Goldman and with the assistance of Abe Friedman, expects to be the sensation of the national amateur championships of 1924.

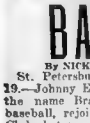
BRAVES ARE BOOKED FOR A GAME WITH THE WHITE SOX

HOT SCRAP FOR THIRD BASE

By NICK FLATLEY

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 19.—Johnny Evers, who made the name Braves famous in baseball, rejoined the Boston Club, but as an enemy, rather than friend. Johnny arrived in camp as the leader of the White Sox, who will endeavor to put on the delayed large league opening here.

The scheduled affair with the Senators, was called off after a tropical deluge that soaked even the dry soil of Florida, until it became what foot ball experts call a quagmire.



Walter Cruise

The showers didn't do the Braves any harm, as a flock of warm weather and sunshine followed them and gave the boys a chance for one of the best workouts of the present trip.

The cripples on the squad practically are well again and a few days of the threatened hot summers will be the proper dose of nature's tonic for them.

A few lame arms in the pitching staff are due to come out of their strain and all the players except Lansing will be ready to do some sharpshooting before the present busy week ends.

The makeup of the team for the season could all be written down right now with the exception perhaps of the third base job.

With Gus Fisher [illegible] home for an appendicitis operation the garden spots fill naturally. Wendell, Nixon and Cruise [illegible] another pitching duo to cure them to an early season.

The fight for third base is on and will continue to be that way until the ball lodges. Jack Rohrer had the first call, but a lame arm has moved Rohrer to first base. And Pinch Pedgett, [illegible] man who made the unassisted triple play at Boston's fold last fall is out of the game.

Bob Smith

Manager Dan Howley [illegible] all things of a successful [illegible] he isn't worried [illegible] about [illegible] successful candidate.

Rohrer is the most experienced of the two and [illegible] the best [illegible] He can step around with [illegible] two at all. Rohrer is smart and steady, and these two qualities are likely to make up for the speed he's short of, though it must be said that he [illegible] roots to be a bit faster.

Little Pedgett, one of the [illegible] got a lesson [illegible] da, and there are plenty of them. He made quite a hit with Manager Danny and will have plenty of chances to show. He's used to playing sort but he [illegible] good on ground ball, that I am [illegible] to third base as [illegible] positioned in very good shape.

Unicorn Sextet Beats Ottawa Shamrocks

Two goals scored in the last minute of play by the Ottawa Shamrock took away some of the polish of the Unicorn's 6 to 3 victory over the Canadians.

Ag Smith

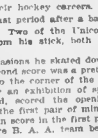
The game was fast. Small and Smith gave the best exhibition of their hockey careers. When "Irv" left the ice in the last period after a bad spill he was accorded a hand. Two of the Unicorn's goals in the opener were from his stick, both scored within the same minute.

On both occasions he skated down alone with the rubber. The second score was a pretty swipe from the right boards into the corner of the net.

Smith, after an exhibition of speed that was almost unexpected, scored the opening goal for the Unicorn within the first pair of minutes.

The Canadian score in the first period was made by Leamy, who drew almost the entire B. A. A. team behind their goal and then twisted in around La Croix.

Geran opened the second with a pretty shot through Huard's legs, and on past Connors. Another from his stick was entered in the books before the gong had sounded, when on a pretty dive after a loose puck he slid with the disc into the draperies.



Irving Small

Hall, Rice, Morrissey, Nichols and Enright were on the ice, with the result that the Canadians, now headed up to energy, managed to push over two goals within a minute of each other.

In the final period, with all the Unicorn regulars in action again, Art Smith swooped down for his second contribution. A shot by Harrington lodged in the corner of the net and Connors waited for one of the Shamrocks to take it away. Instead, Smith skated into the Canadian goalie and bore the fender and the rubber into the framework.

In the last minute of the game Leamy skated around the B. A. A. net and on a rebound poked the disc beyond La Croix. Leamy followed immediately with the fifth of the Canadian offerings, but the Shamrock rally had been delayed too long. The whistle spoiled any chance of a tie.

Appointed to the police force in 1893, Mr. Cronin became an inspector ten years later and for seventeen years was attached to headquarters in Pember on square. From time to time he served with the bank squad. One of the memorable criminal prosecutions in which he took part was that of the Chinatown murderers of 1907.

Dr. Eliot of Harvard Tomorrow Reaches 90th Birthday

To the most far-flung outposts of civilization the name of one Massachusetts man is a household word. This man is Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot.

Dr. Eliot, who was born in Boston but has resided in Cambridge all his life, celebrates his ninetieth birthday tomorrow.

Graduating from Harvard in 1853, Dr. Eliot has devoted his entire life's work to that institution, save a brief period from 1865 to 1869, when he served as professor of analytical chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dr. Eliot has been decorated by half a score of foreign governments in recognition of his work.

Send Dr. Eliot a letter or postcard of congratulations to his home at No. 17 Fresh Pond Parkway, Cambridge.

HOMAGE PAID ELIOT ON 90TH BIRTHDAY

National and State Leaders, Headed by Coolidge, to Honor Noted Educator

Students, alumni and the faculty of Harvard University, representatives of other colleges and prominent personages of the State and nation will join tomorrow to do public honor to Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard.

The public celebration is in honor of his having passed his ninetieth birthday.

In Sanders Theatre at 3:30 o'clock elaborate exercises will be held. These will be followed by a review of the entire student body in the college yard.

The ninetieth anniversary observance will be under the joint auspices of the Harvard Alumni Association, the Associated Harvard Clubs and an honorary committee of 200, of which President Coolidge is chairman.

TAFT IS COMING.

Jerome D. Greene, '98, of New York, as chief marshal, is in full charge of the celebration. Chief Justice Taft, one of the three vice-chairmen of the citizens' committee, will represent President Coolidge when he extends the greetings of the nation to Dr. Eliot at the exercises.

Mr. Taft will be the guest of President Lowell when he reaches Boston Thursday morning, and will be accompanied from Washington by William Phillips, recently appointed ambassador to Belgium, who as one of the aides to Mr. Greene has been assigned to look after the former President during his stay here.

Additional addresses at the exercises will include greetings from President Lowell in behalf of the Harvard Corporation; George Wigglesworth in behalf of the overseers; Dean Leboron R. Briggs for the faculties, Charles T. Greve of Cincinnati for the Associated Harvard Clubs; Charlton McVeagh of Washington, for the students of the university; President James R. Angell of Yale, in behalf of other colleges, universities and learned societies, and Governor Channing Cox, one of the vice-chairmen, on behalf of the Commonwealth.

Premier Mackenzie King of Canada, the third vice-chairman, will be unable to attend.

GREET STUDENTS.

Thomas N. Perkins of the Harvard Corporation and five other delegates including Charles J. Hubbard, the football captain, will escort Dr. Eliot, bringing him by motor from his home to Memorial Hall for the exercises. Justice Edward T. Hanford of Washington will accompany Dr. Eliot as the procession passes from the hall into the theatre.

President Lowell will accompany Mr. Taft, and Mr. Greve will walk with Governor Cox, while Dean Briggs and President Angell will be together. While the procession, which will be entirely indoors, will be composed of 500 men, nearly 1,500 will see the exercises.

After the theatre ceremonial, Dr. Eliot and a number of other guests will go to the college yard to greet the students and receive testimonials prepared by each department. Then the doctor will return to his family for a quiet evening.

Dr. Eliot resigned the Harvard presidency in 1909 after a service of forty years, during which he introduced many new fields of study not offered in the curriculum of the classical universities during the middle of the last century.

CHAMBER ENDORSES HUB ZONING ACT

The zoning act for Boston was endorsed by the Boston Chamber of Commerce today in a letter sent by President Howard Cooney to the Legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs.

"I am writing this because of intimations to the effect the project had not been sufficiently considered," he said.

"The study of this matter has been so thorough and has resulted in what appears to be such a well conceived plan, that the Chamber is proud to be officially represented on the Zoning Advisory Commission."

The zoning act restricts specified districts of Boston to certain types of structures, such as eliminating objectionable manufacturing plants from residential zones.

GUNMAN'S GIRL 'PAL' IS BRIDE

"Sally" Doyle, Former Sweetheart of Convict, Won by Cambridge Man

While Earl "Tug" Wilson, gunman, is serving a term in State's prison, "Sally" Doyle, his sweetheart at the time he shot a Metropolitan Park policeman, in 1922, has become the bride of another man.

Sarah Frances Doyl, or "Sally," as she is better known, secretly married Charles Francis Kane, twenty one, of Cambridge. Members of Kane's family, when they learned of the approaching marriage, endeavored to stop it, but the ceremony was performed March 6 by Arthur V. Jones, justice of the peace, of No 158 Fowler House boulevard, West Somerville.

SHOOTING CASE WITNESS.

"Tug" Wilson and Sally Doyle were found in a parked automobile on Davis street, Medford, on the night of April 5, 1922. Patrolman Francis Philbrick of the Metropolitan police proposed to the running board of the darkened auto to investigate and Wilson shot him.

The girl was captured by the police but Wilson was not caught until the next day. Following the arrest for the shooting, police uncovered a notorious gang of thieves and gunmen of which Wilson was the acknowledged leader.

"Tug" Wilson, on a [illegible] evidence and on all the charges except with a sentence of from five to ten years in State's prison.

"Sally" Doyle was released under bail as a material witness.

As a result of the shooting of the officer while in company with his sweetheart, Wilson became known generally as the "[illegible]-man."

Friends of the Doyle girl, who was [illegible] ard the bandit had a strange influence over her and exerted almost hypnotic powers.

COUPLE QUIETLY WED.

Three weeks ago, young Kane who gave his occupation as being engaged in the auto renting business, his age as twenty-one, and his address as No. 82 Gordon street, West Somerville, appeared at the City Clerk's office in Somerville and filed marriage intentions.

He gave the young woman a name as Sarah Frances Doyle, aged twenty one, address No. 82 Gordon street, West Somerville, occupation "at home."

A week later the marriage license was issued and the couple were married.

Kane, whose real home is said to be in Cambridge, in filing his intentions, gave as his address the home of Mrs James Kelley, sister of Sally Doyle.

The real home of the little girl is at No. 7 Wh[illegible]more street, South Medford, where her mother resides.

WATERWAY PROJECT SURE, SAYS HOOVER

Washington, March 19 (I.N.S.).—Development of the St. Lawrence River project, which would convert lake ports into seaports and create an enormous electrical power reserve, is inevitable, Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced today. One question only remains for the St. Lawrence River commission, appointed by President Coolidge, to determine, that is, whether the present is the time to attack the project, Hoover said.

It was announced that within two weeks a meeting will be held in Washington at which the views of the various States interested. Should these states [illegible] that the government confer with Canada to develop the project, it was thought likely concrete action might be anticipated.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS SUICIDE AT NIAGARA

Niagara Falls N. Y., March 18.—The police had barely identified a man who leaped from the lower steel arch bridge into the lower rapids on Monday as George Snyder of this city when they faced another suicide mystery.

A dark grey overcoat and an empty bottle that had contained poison were found on the Goat Island bridge a few yards out from the mainland and the police believe that their owner leaped to his death from the bridge into the rapids above the falls.

Relatives of James Hickey of Buffalo, who left his home saying that he intended to go over the falls, came here, but were unable to identify the overcoat positively as his.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON THE HOUSE OF HARMONY

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A PECULIAR institution has grown up in New York City. It is called Harmony House.

It is really an office in a tall building or rather that is the place where it is. It is really a woman whose name is Mary Perry King.

She has undertaken a peculiar job; the task of bringing harmony into human spirits that have got jangled.

Women are doing all sorts of things these days. They probably do most of the secretarial work of the world and, as a general thing, do it better than men. They are writing over 50 per cent. of the material that goes into the magazines both high and low brow. They are doing newspaper work. They are running hospitals and selling books. They are breaking into politics and have got their noses under the tent of the Houses of Parliament and Congress.

But the prime, first and natural business of the female of any species is Mothering. And the prime, first and profoundest need of every human being is to be Mothered properly.

The truth is that there are not enough Mothers to go around. The matter is complicated by the fact that some women who have children are not good Mothers and some women who have never been blessed with children are endowed with an extraordinary ability to Mother.

Mrs. King is of the strong, unusual, clear-minded type of women. Instead of devoting herself to art or business or society or this or that she has taken up the task of mending souls.

The other day the papers were full of the story of a poor little chorus girl who had stumbled on the primrose path down to brutal murder. The stories are not uncommon of other youth, both boys and girls, whose lives have been jarred into tragedy.

But when Mrs. King can lure such "sweet bells jangling" into Harmony House, she does something to them that restores their music to the world.

We have all sorts of recipes for evil. There are the moralists who disclaim ethics, the preachers who denounce sin, the policemen who use clubs and the courts that remand to prison.

Mrs. King uses none of these methods. She attacks no sin or conduct. She aims, first of all, to produce harmony, believing that after that is gained piety and propriety will take care of themselves.

Here is hoping that every exceptional woman will be inspired to find a similar career. Let every woman mother whatever she can, all that she can, gladdening, instructing, inspiring and, above all things, understanding!

The two greatest needs for mankind are, first, to beget better babies, and this is the field of eugenics. The second is of equal importance: to set to work the tremendous Mothering ability of women. In this business it is that Harmony House is doing pioneer work.

Good Candidates Won't Object

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

Mr. Rockwell, chairman of the McAdoo-for-President Committee, wants every candidate to tell how he earns his living, each to show his books.

Politics is on a pretty low level and perhaps the suggestion is all right, although not complimentary to candidates.

Many candidates would not object. La Follette, for instance, lives on his salary, heaven knows how. His daughter, a talented young woman, was glad to find work in New York taking care of a young child. He could easily have put her on the public payroll. But that is not his way.

Mr. Coolidge would not object. Before he inherited President Harding's salary and before he became Vice-President he probably never had ten thousand dollars at any time in his life.

Hiram Johnson hasn't got anything much in the way of finance, except worries.

How Money Grows

Henry M. Flagler is dead. His unfortunate wife lives in a retreat for the insane and her fortune climbs. It amounts now to eleven millions, increasing at the rate of a little more than a million a year. This shows what money can do when well taken care of—even with most liberal allowances to lawyers, trustees, doctors, nurses, etc.

Henry M. Flagler, whose services to the nation in developing Florida entitle him to public gratitude, gave his wife Standard Oil stocks. The trustees have bought more of them. Those stocks are valuable property. Henry Ford says Standard Oil is the best managed business in America. His own business is not so bad. It keeps on hand a cash balance of 200 millions, just "in case."

New York, March 19.—"What's in a name?" asked Shakespeare.

FIRE DISASTER RESPONSIBLE FOR FILM

"Through the Dark" at Twin Houses Based on San Francisco Episode

If it had not been for the historical fire which wrapped [illegible] disaster in disaster in San Francisco famous "Boston Blackie" stories written by Jack Boyle, former newspaper man, and upon which the Cosmopolitan picture, "Through the Dark," is founded, probably never would have been written.

The role which Forrest Stanley plays in "Through the Dark" a picturization of Boyle's story, "The Daughter of Mother McGinn," featuring Colleen Moore, is patterned after a real character, encountered by Boyle during the tragic days of 1906 when desolation swept San Francisco.

FOUND STRANGE TRIO.

Boyle was covering the disaster for the San Francisco Examiner when, in the midst of ruins, he spotted a strange trio.

A man was seated with two tiny children. He was improvising a doll from a strip of cloth. As he finished his crude toy, the hand of a three-year-old girl clutched his coat. At his feet, a five-year-old boy played with a wooden soldier that he had salvaged from the debris.

Boyle knew the man to be the most expert safe cracker in the country, but one against whom the police had nothing to warrant his arrest. With safes wide open and the unguarded treasures of the city's unfortunate populace beckoning to looters, this notorious safe robber was lightening the burden of two waifs.

AMUSED WAIFS.

It was this strange sight that led Boyle to speak to the man. Boyle learned that the crook had taken the children, orphaned by the fire, under his wing and was amusing them to keep their minds off the tragedy which had befallen them.

As the days went by Boyle and the crook became well acquainted. It was from this man that Boyle learned many of the facts of crookdom that he later weaved into his famous "Boston Blackie" stories.

This man is also the original of the role in which Forrest Stanley appears in "Through the Dark" at the Modern and Beacon Theatres.

The picture is said to be not only the most graphic picturization of life on Broadway ever brought to the screen but also contains the most thrilling and realistic prize-fight scene ever filmed.

In the scene 75,000 persons appear, and gathered at the training quarters and around the ringside are such celebrities of the sporting world as Irvin S. Cobb, Damon Runyon, Joe Humphries, "Rickard" Beer, Billy Bellew, H. C. Witwer, Tammany Young, "Kid" Broad, Johnny Gallagher and others.

NOTHING HURTS DUCO FINISH

A demonstration is being made by the Boston Oak and Company this week which is very interesting. The Oakland Company shows the Duco finish of the Oakland cars is unaffected by acid treatment, ammonia, fire extinguishers or even lime or cement.

A demonstrator takes acid, both nitric and sulphuric and rubs it on the hood. After wiping this off ammonia is used and then even slacked lime and a fire extinguisher. None of these affects the finish of Duco. The solution in the fire extinguisher is even used as a polish to shine up the car after the demonstration is over.

Duco is a substitute for paint and varnish and is a finish recently discovered by the Dupont Company and promises to revolutionize the painting of automobiles.

CERTIFICATE IS BOON TO AUTO BUYERS

Just what the Inspected Insured Used Car Plan of the Boston American means to its readers was clearly demonstrated last Monday, the first day that the certificates were placed on cars.

These certificates, placed on the car by the American's mechanical experts, state the condition of the car. A buyer entered one of the local salesrooms and looked at an automobile. It looked good on the outside and on the inside, but the certificate stated that the mechanical condition was not good. This settled the buyer. He believed in the Boston American certificate and this is what that certificate means to you.

WILLYS-KNIGHT CHASSIS SHOW

So many people were interested in the Willys-Knight "six-cylinder" chassis at the show that the Boston Overland Company has kept the chassis over for one week before shipping it to the factory.

The chassis is on exhibition at the salesrooms and is attracting much attention. Many people call over to inspect the working parts of the car and see how the sleeve valve engine operates.

OLDSMOBILE CO. IS HOLDING OWN SHOW

Owing to the bad weather the first part of the week the Boston Oldsmobile Company decided to hold a show of its own all this week at the local salesrooms where all the models shown at the show are on exhibition.

This provides an opportunity for the whole family to inspect the cars at their leisure without the usual crowd attending the larger show.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

It is cheering to meet a group of players all in the best of spirits and prospects for the year. Many such I met in Boston.

Thomas F. Woods, the president whom I had expected to find somewhat scarred, assured me this was not Wilson & Co is doing nicely, and every indication that next year will be still more satisfactory.

"There has been a tendency in certain quarters in this country," he said, "to overemphasize the boom in the automobile business. The position is now reversed as a fact.

We had hoped to put through a financial plan which would be favorable for the company. We have wound up the affairs of the subsidiary companies, and have distributed the assets to the stockholders of the parent company. They have received all the preferred dividends in arrears, and have had the opportunity to exchange their holdings of the preferred stock for the common stock. Those who have not availed themselves of this opportunity still have the right to do so, and we expect our plan for a simple capital structure will be carried out.

CHICKIE

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

THE STORY OF CHICKIE THUS FAR

Chickie Bryce's first romance ended disastrously. At seventeen she had created the illusion that A. C. Montag, a school chum, was going to propose to her before he announced he was going away. She was broken-hearted. Then Chickie's chum, Mary Blake, was married. At eighteen Chickie secured a position in a broker's office and there met Janima, a girl, wise in the ways of the world. Jimmie Avery's brother, Geraldine, had love for Chickie, but she puts him off. Chickie meets a number of men and finally goes on a party with Jake Munso and a bunch of his friends, but her fate is changed when Geraldine finds his girl's waywardness. Harry Drake, all of the above house, and, contrary to expectations, Chickie's ballet festival with Jake. They go for a ride and Chickie gets her first kiss—stolen, but happy, she thinks only of Barry, but next day meets Jake on the street and is persuaded to dine with him. He invites her to join a party on his yacht for a trip to Florida. Next day he sends her a pin set with sapphires.

"Don t you think me an awful barbarian?"

HE took her arm and ran her down the path: "Now — we've got to hurry."

The terrace about the house was now a bright, moving field of color. Girls in vivid sport clothes, men and boys in white flannels, sauntered about laughing. Snatches of song rose through the soft twilight and dropped like silver chimes.

Every one seemed to be arriving at once. Mobile heads bobbed up the driveway. Young voices rolled out, shouting gaily: "Here we are! Donna, ready?" "Up with the lights!"

Chickie sped through the hall and stood quiet outside the door, hearing within Janima's voice, clear and high, the laughter of boys about her. She paused, her hand on the door knob. Suddenly they should see her, and then all the people she had known in Boston would run through her veins. Mrs. Abbott, her hair in Miss Bryce. Tell her I'm [illegible] soul, Janima, love. But as she [illegible] from far and near took up the song to swoop down on us this week. I hope there's food enough for all the wolves. Let's [illegible]

Don't worry about the car, Bess, my dear. But pity [illegible] this day. Wore Amber Beads

Bess, very fragile and dark of eyes, in a simple dress of white crepe, enlivened by a vivid string of ruby amber beads that pressed half way to her knees, was just crossing the room.

"Don't think me an awful barbarian, Mrs. Abbott. Tell her I'm [illegible] soul, Janima, love. But as she [illegible] from far and near took up the song to swoop down on us this week. I hope there's food enough for all the wolves. Let's [illegible]

Dinner was a most informal affair—quick, boisterous—half of the guests standing—half of them sitting—shouts across the table, laughter. Bess and Nance divided the honors as hostess.

The Mysterious Monuments of Faraway Island

ONE of the mysteries that ence has not yet solved i the origin of the monumental ues Easter Island. Easter Island lo in the South Pacific about 30 de grees south latitude and about two thousand miles west of the coas of Chili. Its area is about forty five square miles.

The island is inhabited by about one hundred descendants of Polynesians who drifted to its shores from other islands centuries ago. At one time there were seven or two or three thousand of these natives. About a century ago a large proportion of them were carried away by Peruvians and taken to work at the guano deposits on Chincha Island. Disease soon removed most of the natives.

It is not these poor people who make Easter Island interesting, but the presence there of some extraordinary works of art. On the island are found numerous platforms constructed of cut stones fitted together without cement. They are generally built upon eminences and slope toward the sea. The walls on the seaward side are about 30 feet high and 1 feet thick and 200 feet long and 1 feet wide. On the land side of the platforms are broad stone terraces with pedestals upon which stood images carved in the shape of the human trunk. On some of the platforms are lying images which have been thrown from their pedestals. The top of the heads of these images is cut flat and have round crowns made of a reddish stone that is found at a point about eight miles distant from the quarry where the images were cut.

In one place on the island a mains of stone houses feet long by 20 feet wide. These are built of large flat stones fitted without cement. The roofs are formed by placing slabs of rock overlaps the lower one, the opening becomes about feet wide, when it is covered by slabs reaching from one side to the other.

There are evidences of the ingenuity made of imitations of the metrical figures. Several scholars of archaeologists have tried in vain to decipher them. The inhabitants of the island know nothing, of course, regarding the huge works. Skull of the island reveals no trace of the race of people who constructed them. They resemble nothing of the kind on the earth, so that the mystery up with other ancient remains impossible.

On the other hand it seems impossible that these people could have originally been the builders of such a barren country with no form of culture whatever. The weight of the images is enormous, the stone from which they were carved is found in England and preserved in the British Museum weighs four tons. By what engines the stones were lifted and put in place is hidden these curious facts represented; what a race of people, what curious engines to move the monuments and set them in place, by vanished to the last grave, a tomb or a sepulchre their dead is a mystery that may never be solved.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

By Mark Sullivan

A Glimpse of the Romantic Life of Vittoria Colonna.

IN the year 1494, on the beautiful Island of Ischia in the Bay of Naples, a little girl played at the sunshine and ran along the seashore gathering pebbles.

She was the daughter of Fabrizio Colonna, the Grand Constable of Naples. Her mother was a daughter of the "Great Duke" Frederick of Urbino, so this child was "born to the purple."

No distinguished was her family that Ferdinand of Aragon, King of Naples, commanded her marriage with Francesco Pescara, of noble family of the Island of Ischia.

The betrothal took place when Vittoria—for that was her name—was four years old.

There is nothing more beautiful in the history of the reigning families of Europe than the romance of these two children, who spent their early years on the beautiful Island of the Bay of Naples, with the sweet thought in their young hearts that one day they would be married.

Although many suitors sought her hand, including the Duke of Savoy and the Duke of Braganza, Vittoria had no desire save to marry her playmate, Francheseo, which she did when she had just passed her seventeenth year.

For five years they were very happy on this sheltered island, protected from the strife which was raging between Naples and Rome, and between France and Spain.

Then Francheseo heard the call to arms, and offered his sword to the Holy League. He enlisted at Ravenna and immediately set out for France.

Francesco Pescara soon became one of the most brilliant of the captains of Charles the Fifth, under whom he served. At the price of treason the crown of Naples was offered to him, but it was Vittoria who influenced him to decline it.

In 1525 Francheseo was mortally wounded at Milan. Vittoria was crushed, and hurried to see him before he died. But it was too late. He breathed his last before his adoring wife could reach him.

Vittoria returned to her little island and lived in seclusion for ten years, declining the many offers of marriage which were pressed upon her.

Here she began to write, and from her pen came the "Rime Spirituali," which is by far her most distinguished work.

In 1538 Vittoria went to Rome.

She was the most beautiful woman of that city, and at the same time the leader of society and letters. But her crowning success was the wonderful friendship it was her privilege to form. For with the great Michel Angelo Vittoria enjoyed one of the truly beautiful friendships of the Renaissance.

Michel Angelo was sixty-five. Vittoria was a beautiful woman between forty and fifty. Many exquisite letters in the form of sonnets. It is said that Vittoria was the real inspiration of much of the great artist's work.

MEDBURY SAYS...

By John P. Medbury

IN spite of all the accidents last year, automobilists are still trying to beat railroad trains to the crossing and nine times out of ten both of them get there at the same time.

YOU'D think motorists would get tired of having big freight engines climbing into the front seat with them.

NOWADAYS an engineer never knows when he's going to have to pick a flivver out of his cars.

TO some automobile drivers, the right of way belongs to the one who gets there first.

WHEN a passenger goes to bed in a Pullman car it's nothing for him to wake up in the middle of the night and find a couple of touring cars and a sedan in his berth.

IT'S getting so that you're afraid to retire without putting a "stop" light on your foot.

IF you sleep next to the window you have to wear a bumper on your nose instead of eye glasses.

YOU can raise your shade most any time and find a steering wheel or a fender hanging on the window sill.

IF you're traveling from New York to San Francisco, by the time you get to your destination you've got enough parts to assemble a whole car.

ONE man went to sleep with his hand out of the window and it wasn't twenty minutes before he grabbed two roadsters and a coupe.

EVERY cow catcher will have a repair shop on it.

IT won't be long before a motorist will be able to buy gas and oil from the Pullman porters.

A MOTORIST who goes on a long trip these days is disappointed if he doesn't get hit by a train at least once.

HE wants a few bones broken to show his wife that he wasn't loafing along the highway.

THREE-STAGE R. F. IS EASY TO BUILD

Transformer Coupled Type Makes a Sensitive Set of Simple Construction

Cascade amplifications, transformer coupled, is the easiest type of multi-stage radio-frequency to build and operate.

The tubes may be placed in a straight row toward the rear of the set and the transformers set in front toward the panel. This insures short leads to grids and plates and results in easy wiring of all the parts.

Transformer - coupled radio-frequency is not as efficient as some other types, but this balanced by the fact that it is much easier to build and much simpler to operate than other types. More than one or two stages of tuned radio-frequency, for instance, is pretty difficult to tune for any but an expert, except when the signals are so strong that they come through when only the first stage is tuned.

In the diagram shown today there are three stages of radio-frequency. Antenna tuning is by means of a vario-coupler, the secondary of which is tuned with a .0005 mfd. condenser. It is possible to use any standard type of tuning at this point.

If desired, the vario-coupler may be omitted, and the set used with a loop, which is tuned by the same condenser connected across the terminals.

Radio Queries

I have a five-tube neutrodyne which was wired by a man who sells them. The wiring looks to be perfect, but it will not neutralize. I have done what the directions say, but it still does no good.

E. S. W. W.

We have seen neutrodynes that for some unimaginable reason would not neutralize and still others that needed no neutralizing condensers. I should advise you to insist that the dealer neutralize the set, as it is not a job for an inexperienced person.

Where is station TNT?

This is the humorous designation of WTAT, the Edison Company.

I built an American Super and got excellent results. It even worked a loud speaker with 22 volts on the amplifier and 16½ on the detector. Something has gone wrong. It will work fairly well, one minute nearly knocking my ears off and then suddenly disappearing. J. K.

The most likely guess is a defective cell or two in the B battery. While 22½ volts on the amplifier may work with a fresh battery, the battery will quickly deteriorate. The only possibility is a defect in the wiring.

Where are stations IAZP, IAZE and IAWN? Also is there a station 2SY? R. W. L.

Newton, Newton, Dorchester, and Bloomfield, N. J., respectively.

I am going to build the vari-coupler described in March 14's paper. 1—To what is the rotor connected? 2—Can I use this with a crystal set? 3—I now have a crystal set that picks up WJAR all right, but I cannot get WEAN or WSAD. G. D.

The rotor is connected to the secondary. In the case of a crystal set, a .0005 condenser would be shunted across the rotor, and the crystal and phones in series with it. Yes. 3—The most probable explanation is that your set is not sensitive enough to pick up these stations. WJAR is many times more powerful than the other stations you mention. A fifty-foot antenna is rather short, and increasing this length may help.

My Super seems to be something of a freak. I get WNAC on 56.82; WGI on 30.75; WGY on 76.71 and WTAT on 109.109. I get plenty of volume on these stations. Is it possible that my trouble is in the antenna or ground? Would a larger condenser than 11 plate help? G. V. MacK.

Freak is right. It may be that some of the turns on your coils are shorted, or it may be that your dials do not synchronize with the condenser's. Also, when the dial reads 100 the rotor plates of the condenser should be entirely enmeshed with the stator plates (assuming that you have a 100-degree dial, of course). The ground or antenna would not affect this.

The Listener

Repetition of popular music may come with tiresome rapidity in radio programs. There's one old-time song we hope to hear sung, however, by the same favorite for many years to come. That is "Sweet Adeline," as rendered by John F. Fitzgerald, former Mayor of Boston. We have heard him sing it twice via the "Mike" and stand ready to enjoy it a third time.

A friend of mine asked me to go to his home, to look over a new loud speaker he had invented. When I got there, he took an ordinary bandaid, putting a set of head phones in the drum, with the receivers resting on the drum part, and tuned in on a distant station. The music could be heard all over the room.

I picked up a new one the other night, WOAX in Trenton, N. J. Never had even heard of it before. Barlow's Orchestra was playing and it sounded good. The announcer gave his initials and said the studio was located in the "tower" of a big manufacturing concern. They broadcast on a wave length of 240 meters.

Of all the programs I heard on St. Patrick's Day, that at WGY, Schenectady, impressed me as being the most complete. The regular announcer eventually was given a night off and the typical New York State accent was replaced by a rich and mellow brogue in keeping with the day.

I notice lately many announcers are complying with this popular demand of "coming in" directly a number is finished. I also notice that most stations are now running their programs through with the minimum of waiting between numbers.

WNAC to Attempt Rebroadcast of CFCA, Toronto

The most pretentious attempt at rebroadcasting yet made by WNAC, the Shepard Stores station, will be made tonight when the international rotary program at CFCA, Toronto, will be picked up and sent out on the air again on the WNAC wave length.

A special receiver has been installed at Loew's State Theatre. The output of this will be amplified and carried to the WNAC transmitter by special wire, where it will be sent out on the air.

The last time rebroadcasting was tried, at the opening of the Brunswick studio of WBZ, the receiver was located in the Copley-Plaza. A generator hum there seriously interfered with the reception, which will be avoided at the State Theatre.

Captain Bullens of the operating staff at WNAC will be in charge.

'HUMP' ON WBF WAVE CAUSES INTERFERENCE

The hump on the 400-meter wave of WBF, the station of the United Fruit Company in Boston, continues to be the chief cause of code interference with radio broadcasting.

Interference by ship operators between the hours of 7 and 11 is now practically nil.

An induction hum began at 10 o'clock last night and continued for twenty-two minutes. This hum has been complained on previous nights, but efforts to track the cause have failed. It does not seem to be localized, as listeners in various parts of Greater Boston have reported it.

WHN SETTLES ROW OVER BROADCASTING

New York, March 19.—The controversy between the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and George Schubel, owner of broadcasting station WHN, which for a time threatened the future of radio in this section, was amicably settled when Schubel agreed to purchase a license to use A. T. & T. patents.

Radio Receiving Conditions Tonight

Radio receiving conditions tonight will be good from States broadcasting in the eastern part of the country as far west as the Ohio Valley. States in the Middle West and extreme West will not be heard very well because of a low barometric pressure area in that section.

The financial outlook warrants the doubling of our present orchards. — Dr. Charles D. Woods, State Department of Agriculture.

BOSTON AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19, 1924

New England orchards must change their methods to win the apple battle from the growers of the Pacific Coast.

Minute Men, Shall We Import New England Apple Pie From the Pacific Coast?

Minute Men of 1924, do you know:

That one and a half million bushels of apples rot on the ground or are otherwise wasted each year in Massachusetts?

That practically all of the eating apples on sale in retail stores in Boston today are from the Pacific coast?

That the annual waste of apples in this State represents two millions and a half of dollars?

These are facts, although New England has the [illegible]ate and soil in the United States for apple [illegible] at is the answer?

Lack of merchandising skill; lack of organization; lack of Brains, Courage and Company.

The American recently made a survey of some of the Boston downtown food and fruit stores.

It found that apples shipped three thousand miles, kept in storage for months, costing more to wholesaler and consumer, are being sold in preference to better apples grown within thirty miles of Boston.

Surely an astounding condition.

At the rate we are buying apples from the West we might as well go the entire distance and import New England apple pies and applesauce from the Pacific coast.

Our storekeepers say they would prefer to sell New England apples to any other kind, not only through a sense of loyalty, but because New England apples are the best.

But it cannot be done, they say, because:

They do not receive them in attractive containers, whereas the apples from Western States and Canada are put up in fancy packages.

Receipts are not uniform as to time or quantity.

Apples coming to this market from the outside provide more eloquent reasons for the retailers' partiality and also for the consumers' favor.

They come on time. They come in style.

They are packed in cartons and small boxes. They make the best window and counter displays.

Each apple is polished and dressed in tissue. Each is a palate tickler.

They are marketed to sell, to catch the eye, to make an impression. That is why the retailer likes the Western apples.

[illegible]ew of our New England growers make any ef[illegible]-operate with the dealer or appeal to the [illegible]

New England distributor of apples says:

"The Northwest apple growers have a better system of distribution, are better organized and have business representatives all over the country. They have a better packing system and their apples, covered with paper, made to lustre, appeal more to the consumer.

"To my mind there is no doubt that New England can produce better apples, and charge less for them."

Minute Men of New England orchards must change their attitude.

Their namesakes of 1775 won many of their battles by stealing the enemy's ammunition.

The apple grower today must do likewise: It is time to take the markets and the homes of New England by storm.

Stop allowing crops to spoil and waste because you cannot command the top price every year.

Join with organized effort, join a co-operative fruit growers' exchange, or something of the kind that is managed by experts of your own selection.

It is the marketing, the co-operative merchandising brains of the Western growers that has compelled the New England apple grower to surrender supremacy in his own territory.

It can be won back if the New Englanders will employ the same tactics.

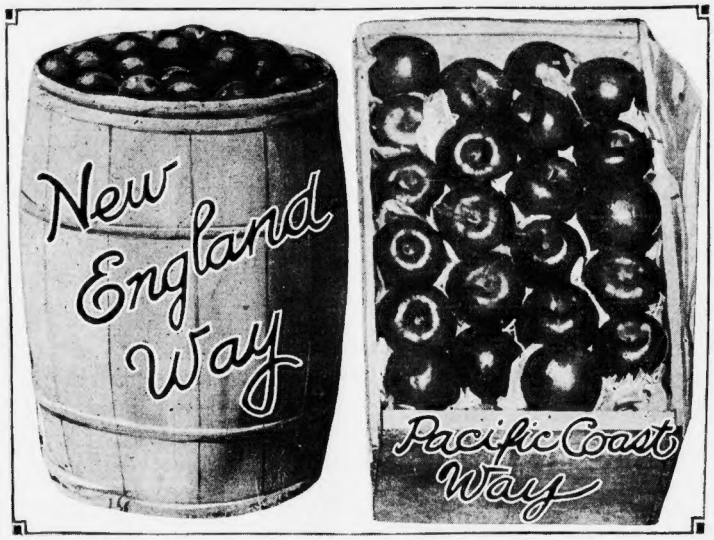
Western and Canadian growers can pay freight charges for distances up to 3,000 miles and then undersell New England growers right here in the Boston market.

They do it because New England farmers have become wasteful.

In the olden days many refused to buy a labor-saving device because it "cost a pretty penny."

And they have failed utterly to be up-to-the-Minute Men in meeting the merchandising of competitors.

That is why they have been "losing a pretty penny" every year; why more than a million and a half bushels of apples have been going to waste and a possible income of $2,500,000 has been slipping through the fingers of Massachusetts apple growers every year.



There is more than one reason why Western apples have been driving New England apples out of their home markets, but this picture presents the most effective one. It is the old story of brains and pains against a slipshod method. On the right is shown a box of fifty Winesaps from the Pacific Coast, in which each apple comes in a tissue cover. This cover is used to polish the fruit as it is exposed for window display and counter sale. The arrangement leads people into the temptation to favor Western apples through the idea that seeing is believing. It is smart merchandising psychology. On the left is pictured the usual New England way. What appeal does the barrel make to the apple lover after the first row is gone? The answer is found in the windrows of apples which rot on New England farms.

There are a few hopeful signs in the apple skies of New England.

Maine's Department of Agriculture has seen the need of waking up its apple growers to fight competitors for the favor of the Eastern markets.

The New Hampshire farm bureaus are doing likewise.

And there are some progressive business men in that State who are helping progressive growers to carry the fight into the enemy's country.

For some time they have been sending to friends in various parts of the country Christmas presents of the best New Hampshire apples, shipped in the most approved style for attractiveness and safety.

They are Minute Men. As a result of their efforts one New Hampshire grower disposes of practically all of his crop through mail orders from steady customers.

The Eastern States Farmers' Co-operative Exchange of Springfield has sensed the situation.

It has sent invitations to the farm bureaus of each of the New England States to join in one co-operative body, to win, through up-to-date orcharding and merchandising, the place which New England apples deserves in the markets of the world.

This organization has shown what the Minute Men spirit can do. It expects to handle 150,000 tons of farm commodities this year.

Ever hear the romance of McIntosh Red of Massachusetts? That is an apple and not a bandit. It is the king of the New England orchard. It commands the highest price in the apple market.

The Baldwin is its chum.

They form a combination not found outside of the New England orchard. They are vivid in appearance, juicy and tasty, and entitled to the first rank in popular favor.

Minute Men of 1924, these two apples, especially the McIntosh, are doing something to win back New England supremacy in orcharding.

But they must do more.

They are doing a great deal on the Marshall farm at Fitchburg, a farm made famous in a few years by a father who applied business methods and a son who early learned to see the romance of orcharding.

The Marshalls did not allow themselves to be overwhelmed by the brilliant propaganda of the Pacific Coast apple raisers.

They saw neighbors submit to the loss of business, won by Western rivals through campaigns of intelligence and strenuous merchandising.

But not the Marshalls. They had the spirit of Minute Men.

Not a bad apple, not a bad customer, not a bad debt, each crop practically sold out before it is grown —that is the record of the Marshall farm for twenty years.

The cardinal principles of the business are:

Good apples bring good customers.

The best apples command the best customers and the best prices.

No bad apples mean no bad bills.

A dollar forfeit for every apple with a worm in it.

All apples handled with gloves and they never touch the ground.

NOT A DOLLAR HAS BEEN PAID ON THE WORMY APPLE CHALLENGE, WHICH WAS ISSUED IN 1914.

In 1918 this farm was selling approximately 10,000 boxes of 140 apples each. Last year the sales were 34,500 boxes.

Only two grades are sold by the Marshall farm. One is pluperfect, positively guaranteed.

This means that the color, the taste, the spicy flavor and juicy contents are "beyond compare."

These apples are wrapped in tissue paper. Each has its own carton compartment and between the layers are thick sheets of cardboard.

Each carton is sealed and the manager of the farm is willing to wager that such a carton can travel to Santa Barbara and back without showing a bruised apple.

Mr. Marshall says the secret of success in the apple business is the confidence of customers that the top row of a carton or box is no better in color or quality than any other row.

Three-quarters of the annual Marshall crop is sold to families through mail orders. To keep up with the growth of this demand it is necessary to increase the number of trees each year.

There is not a State from which family orders are not received. Several New York hotels and clubs would like to take all of Marshall's pluperfect apples and there are large commission houses in large cities which crave the exclusive sales right.

Such is fame! He has become like the fellow in the jungle with the best mouse trap.

A beaten path is worn each year to his mail box with offers to pay his price for all his crop, because he has established a reputation for having the best.

These Marshalls of Fitchburg are real Minute Men of the New England apple industry. They have had faith in New England's soil and climate and they have exercised their New England brains.

It might be said that the Nashoba Fruit Growers' Association of Worcester county, with a membership of about 500, has become a modern regiment of militant Minute Men.

It is beginning to do, on a much larger scale, what Marshall farm is doing.

It is making a drive on the markets through co-operation

One of the most encouraging things about this association is that a large element of its members is made up of young farmers who are college graduates and have studied salesmanship, as well as agriculture and fruit raising.

Apples have been wasted in windrows along the roadsides of Worcester county, but this association plans to correct that and make use of every apple.

Plans are making for packing and shipping to please families and satisfy the retail trade. A lot of apples will be canned and others put up in jelly form. And good old New England cider will not be forgotten.

Here are salient facts to keep in mind when considering the apple business. In 1921 Massachusetts grew 1,250,000 bushels of commercial apples. That was a small crop year. In 1922 and last year, the crop was a little over 3,000,000 bushels.

The average for the last five years has been 2,500,000 bushels.

The average yearly crop value should have been $4,500,000.

But only 850,000 bushels has been the average yield of the last five years of Massachusetts apples suitable for the table or for cooking.

Which means that nearly two-thirds of our annual apple crop has been so poorly grown that it had to be sold, if marketed at all, for canning or for cider making.

It means also, that, for the last five years, only about one-third of the apple crop has been good for commercial purposes and that, instead of growers dividing over $4,000,000, the actual sum was more nearly $1,250,000.

Only about 48,000 of the 2,500,000 acres of farm land in Massachusetts are set to apple trees.

These have about 1,250,000 trees of bearing age, producing on the average in the last five years not more than two bushels of apples for each tree.

Each year about 23,000 have been passing out and about 26,000 young trees have been coming productive.

At that rate, it would take nearly a century to double the number of apple trees of bearing age in this State alone. This work must be speeded up.

It is said that, at a recent banquet of the Massachusetts Fruit Growers' Association, the apples on the table were grown in Western States.

If New England fruit growers show a preference for the apples of other sections, how can they expect New England dealers or New England people to be partial to them?

Dr. Charles D. Woods of our State Department of Agriculture says to the farmers of New England:

"The better growing and marketing of fewer varieties sums up the need of orcharding today.

"There is land available and the financial outlook warrants the doubling of our present orchards.

"Closer attention to management should, before many years, give the commercial apple crop of Massachusetts a tenfold volume.

"Co-operation is essential to bring this to pass and co-operation means that our apple farmers must organize, standardize, merchandise and advertise."

All of us must help the merchandising need of the New England apple grower.

We must insist strenuously upon having New England apples from our dealers until the pressure upon the farmers and the farm organizations is so great that every tree will be cared for to its best yielding condition, new tree planting extended to the limit of acreage, and the necessity for attractive merchandising thoroughly appreciated.

Minute Men of the apple business, is it not plain that New England has the material with which you may turn a losing industry into one of great profit?

You need to increase two or three-fold the acreage of New England orchards.

You need to organize for marketing and merchandising.

THEN LET THE WORLD KNOW THAT NEW ENGLAND PRODUCES AND SELLS THE BEST APPLES GROWN.
